WORLD SEES GREATEST ADVENTURE

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer
SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Neil A. Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. blasted off safely from the moon and into lunar orbit today, beginning the complex maneuvers to link up with their mother ship. They left behind their footprints in the lunar dust and in the history of man.

If all went well, the two ships would link up at 5:32 p.m. EDT, and head for home at 12:57 a.m. Tuesday.

Their thrust lander, which settled them onto the surface Sunday for a 21½ hour stay, served them, too, at liftoff. They left behind the spindly-legged lower stage, their launching platform, as a permanent memento of July 20, 1969—the day man landed on the moon.

It was the first time a rocket had lifted anything from the moon.

Mission control awakened the moonmen shortly after 11 a.m. following a six-hour rest period.

Instruments which monitored Armstrong during the night indicated he slept fitfully. There is only one set of biomedical instruments in the cabin so Aldrin was not monitored.

Sleeping in the cramped quarters of the LM is difficult and Aldrin reported: "Neil has been lying on the engine cover and I curled up on the floor."

Checking of systems and switch settings for the critical liftoff was the No. 1 priority after wakeup.

A successful liftoff would shoot them into lunar orbit to chase down Michael Collins, orbiting some 69 miles overhead in the Apollo 11 command ship. Once linked up, they plan to fire themselves back toward earth early Tuesday, ending a space odyssey in which they etched their names beside those of history's great explorers, Columbus, Balboa, Magellan, da Gama and Byrd.

Through the magic of television, an estimated 500 million people around the world had a ringside seat to man's greatest adventure.

It was unforgettable.

Armstrong climbed through the LM hatch and started backing down a nine-rung ladder. On the second rung from the bottom, he opened a compartment, exposing a television camera.

The picture was black and white and somewhat jerky, but it recorded history.

Among scientists, there was elation that the crew had landed in an area with a variety of rocks, a treasure that held at least the hope of a rich payoff in the search to learn more about moon and earth.

As Armstrong planted his size 9½ left boot on the powdery surface at 10:56 p.m. Sunday, he spoke words that will be remembered for all time: "That's one small step for man, a giant leap for mankind."

The camera trained on Aldrin as he stepped on the far shore 20 minutes later and exclaimed: "Beautiful! Beautiful! Magnificent desolation."

There were other memorable utterances during the day of high adventure.

There were Armstrong's words when Eagle separated from the command ship to start the dangerous descent: "The Eagle is flying."

There were Armstrong's—and man's—first words from the moon's surface after touchdown at 4:18 p.m.: "Houston ... Tranquility base here. The Eagle has landed."

Or when Aldrin, a deeply religious man, relayed this message to the world shortly after the landing: "This is the LM pilot. I'd like to take this opportunity to ask every person listening, whoever, wherever they may be, to pause for a moment and contemplate the events of the past few hours and to give thanks in his or her own way."

They planted an American flag and saluted it, but made it plain they came to the moon as ambassadors for all mankind.

They unveiled a stainless steel plaque bearing these words: "Here men from planet earth first set foot upon the moon, July, 1969. A.D. We came in peace for all mankind."

They left on the moon a disc on which messages from the leaders of 76 nations had been recorded. They will return to earth with them the flags of 136 nations, including Russia. And they left behind mementos for three Americans and two Russians who died for the cause of space exploration.

Roundtowners Air Reactions To First Moon Walk

By MIKE VAUGHAN

Elation, disbelief and nervousness were the feelings of Roundtowners early this morning about last night's moon landing.

Poetry and readings from scripture were some of explanations of last night's space adventures. One man commented that the whole program "was a fake and that America couldn't beat the Russians to the moon."

"It's the greatest thing since the invention of the airplane, but you'll never see it again," commented Emery Ferguson.

Ray Sisterman, E. Mill Street, said, "If God had wanted someone on the moon, he'd have put him there. What we gonna do after we get up there anyway?" Commenting about Russia and China not televising the moon event he said that the reason was that "they knew they was beat."

"THE journey is the greatest thing that's happened to man in this century," said Bill Hundley of Markley Road.

One lady commented that she was too busy to watch the landing and that it did not interest her.

Jack White, when asked about his opinion of Sunday's space journey said "... It was the greatest thing I've ever seen, but I'll feel a lot better when they get back safely."

"The Apollo mission was a great step ahead for the United States, but I feel that the money spent on the project could have been used better here on earth," said Willard (Timmy) Timmons.

C. K. Vaughan, representing the local DuPont Company, commented that "the company and local plant are quite proud of their association with the Apollo program, especially with the Lunar Module."

New Apollo Joins Family Of Man

WEST CHESTER, Pa. (AP) — While the Apollo crew was busy preparing to land a man on the moon Sunday morning, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Apollo of West Chester, Pa., were busy preparing to have a baby.

Michael Daniel Apollo weighed in at 6 pounds, 13 ounces at 3:28 a.m. Sunday at Chester County Hospital.

Mrs. Apollo had been taken to the hospital on July 13, but was told to return home. It seems Michael had planned to time his arrival with the moon landing, her doctor said.

U.S. Spacemen Strike Lunar Paydirt Astronauts Likened To Small Boys At Recess

By SAUL PETT
AP Special Correspondent

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — They took their first steps onto the moon cautiously, like prudent boys testing the first ice of winter on a country pond.

When first they walked, they walked carefully and slowly, leaning forward, plodding heavily like tired old cops on a beat in Staten Island.

As they acquired confidence, they walked faster, now with a slow bounce in the one-sixth gravity of the moon. And then they ran and their stride was longer than on earth and their shoes seemed suspended off the strange lunar surface, with something of the floating quality of figures on slow motion film.

When they were still, they seemed very still, as if frozen, and they leaned forward like puppets to be at a lunar form of attention when the president spoke to them from earth.

All the while, the earth was "bright and beautiful" above them. In this first incredible day of an incredible new era one needs to repeat that: the earth was above them.

In the distance, the lunar surface looked pocked and leathery like the back of a dead alligator. Closer up, it looked like rubble, like earth levelled roughly after a disaster, dead.

They looked ghostlike on the soundless, airless, mostly colorless moon. Over the curving horizon, only one and a half miles away on a planet smaller than earth, there was the blackness of space and infinity. The foreground was starkly lighted by the sun and the men and their vehicle cast long shadows. It was dawn on the moon and a dawn in the history of man.

Neil Alden Armstrong, formerly of 601 West Benton St., Wapakoneta, a town in Ohio, a state in the United States, a country on the planet earth, extended his left foot onto the moon.

"That's one small step for man, one giant leap for mankind," he said. The first words were fine. History would be content.

Now for the scientists: "The surface is fine and powdery. It adheres like charcoal to the soles of my shoes. You go down only about an inch."

And for the doctors: "There seems to be no difficulty in moving around."

And for the geologists and the biologists and the others seeking the age of the solar system and the secret of life he immediately began collecting "contingency" samples of rock. "Contingency" in case he had to leave in a hurry.

And Buzz Aldrin came down, the second man on the surface of the moon. And together they walked and ran like kids at recess and then like men with the responsibility of the ages they went to work.

They gathered rocks, they set up a foil panel to measure the solar wind, they installed a seismometer to probe the interior of

Wide Variety Of Samples Is Taken

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The Apollo astronauts struck paydirt in their prospecting on the moon.

Their luck especially was in finding a great variety of different rocks, which could tell much about the moon's age and origin.

They saw a curious purple rock and perhaps put it in one of the two treasure chests they are bringing home.

JODRELL BANK, England (AP) — Russia apparently landed its unmanned Luna 12 space probe on the moon today just as American astronauts Neil A. Armstrong and Edwin E. "Buzz" Aldrin Jr. prepared to take off, Jodrell Bank Observatory reported.

Astronomer Sir Bernard Lovell said the probe transmitted signals "appropriate to a landing" and it appeared the unmanned craft had left orbit and touched down on the moon.

And they cored out a five-inch deep sample of lunar soil that "looks moist," a suggestion there might be water and so perhaps microscopic life beneath the moon's surface. But the moist, dark appearance could simply be from tight packing of fine particles of material, cautions David McKay, geologist of the Manned Spacecraft Center.

They found the crust of the moon much harder than numer-

DuPont Plays Key Role In Moon Walk

Did you recognize Circleville as the moon walk was viewed on TV last night? More specifically, did those local DuPont employees recognize their tremendous contribution to the entire space program in the materials made here in Roundtown?

Products manufactured at the Circleville DuPont plant served critical functions in the Command and Service Module, the Lunar Module and the "Moon Suit."

Aluminized "Mylar" polyester film and aluminized "Kaptan" polyimide film provided thermal insulation while "Teflon" fabric and "Teflon" coated materials were a part of the 21 protective layers of man-made materials used in the moon walk space suits of the astronauts.

Aluminized Kaptan and Mylar were visible to viewers for they covered the exterior of the Lunar Module to provide protection against temperature extremes in outer space.

DuPont officials and employees are justifiably proud of the part they have played in the successful Lunar Program. Although the locally manufactured products were not stamped, "Circleville," we were there!

For others, there were periods of reflection and prayer.

In her home at Worcester, Mass., the widow of rocket pioneer Robert H. Goddard sat alone and watched television as man stepped on the moon for the first time.

When a newsman phoned she said, "I'm sorry ... I'd rather be by myself ... you understand."

A soft rain fell at Auburn, Mass., where Goddard fired his first liquid fueled rocket in 1926.

In New York, some 3,000 people watched the moon landing at a huge television screen at Kennedy International Airport. Hundreds crowded in front of another big screen at the Time-Life Building across from Radio City Music Hall. An estimated 4,000 watched the three huge TV screens erected in Central Park.

Armstrong Nearly Trips On Cable

Neil A. Armstrong, the first to test man's ability to walk on the moon, almost made an unplanned test of man's ability to fall on the moon.

While he was loping across the surface his foot tangled in the television camera cable.

Crewmate Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. warned him, however, before he fell.

"Neil," called Aldrin by radio, "Neil, you're on the cable."

"Okay."

"Pick up your right foot," Aldrin added. "Your toe is still hooked in it."

Armstrong untangled his foot and loped on.

Across the nation, in Anaheim, Calif., 80 members of the Soviet Union's track and field team saw the moon landing on Disneyland TV screen.

In Burbank, Calif., an ice cream company, moments after Neil A. Armstrong first stepped on the moon, started dishing out a new flavor called Lunar Cheese Cake.

In the Nevada gaming cities of Las Vegas and Reno, gamblers were asked to halt the action briefly. In Las Vegas, a stripper at the Silver Slipper Casino peeled a simulated space suit, and at Reno's Harrah's Club, they pushed a new drink, the Moonshot Cocktail.

At Farragut State Park in northern Idaho, Boy Scouts were gathered for their 7th annual jamboree. They huddled around radios and a few television sets for news of the exploits of two former scouts, Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr.

In Philadelphia, a huge crowd gathered in front of historic Independence Hall and cheered when Eagle reached the moon's surface.

In Seattle, pregame ceremonies before an American League baseball game between the hometown Pilots and the Minnesota Twins were interrupted by a announcement of the moon landing. The fans cheered, stood up and sang "America the Beautiful."

In some countries many remained unaware. Communist China, with one quarter of the world's population, did not broadcast news about Apollo 11, nor did North Vietnam or North Korea.

As Neil A. Armstrong's boots scuffed the lunar dust, it was just before sunrise in most of Europe and a crowd of 2,000 still clustered around a giant television screen in London's Trafalgar Square.

At the Jodrell Bank radio observatory, Sir Bernard Lovell, Britain's leading space expert, stopped tracking the progress of the Soviet craft Luna 15 over the moon to watch Armstrong.

"I'm just speechless with amazement," Lovell said. "There is nothing more I can say than that it is absolutely fantastic. One can scarcely believe it is taking place as one sees it."

Crowds in front of TV screens at Paris sidewalk cafes and bars in Rome cheered as Armstrong bounded over the moon's

Families Of Apollo 11 Trio Find Journey 'Unbelievable'

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — No different from the rest of the nation, the proud Apollo 11 wives struggled to find enough adjectives to express their feelings for their men on the moon.

"The evening has been unbelievably perfect," Mrs. Neil Armstrong said today after watching the moon explorations of her husband and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. "It is an honor and privilege to share with my husband, the crew, the Manned Spacecraft Center, the American public and all of mankind this magnificent experience of the beginning of lunar exploration."

Earlier, Mrs. Armstrong expressed her feelings much more simply. "I was tremendously excited," she said.

"It was hard to think it was real until the men actually moved," said Mrs. Aldrin. "I felt I was looking at another simulation."

After the moon touchdown Mrs. Aldrin said she wept "because I was so happy."

"I thought it was fantastically marvelous," said Mrs. Michael Collins, whose husband flew a moon orbit in the command capsule while the two other crewmen visited the surface.

"Don't you think he is with them there in spirit?" Mrs. Collins replied when asked if her husband was disappointed because he was not in the landing party.

All Apollo families planned to sleep late today before the next critical phase, blastoff from the moon.

Tuesday night, if everything goes right, the three wives will be honored at a preplanned party given by astronaut Bill Anders.

The splashdown will be the best part of the flight," Mrs. Aldrin said Sunday at a news conference.

And Mrs. Armstrong did not consider the moon landing the greatest moment of her life.

"That was when we were married," she said.

The astronauts' children shared in Sunday's excitement, and in the praise of their fathers.

"It was pretty exciting," said 12-year-old Ricky Armstrong. "I'm proud of daddy."

"It was very exciting," said 11-year-old Andy Aldrin.

Had Andy any ambitions to become an astronaut?

"Oh Lord, I couldn't go through this twice," Mrs. Aldrin answered.

The local weather observer has predicted the onset of a "drying out" period commencing Tuesday with mostly sunny skies and no precipitation.

Nixon Talk NASA Idea

NEW YORK (AP) — Col. Frank Borman, who commanded the Apollo 8 mission, says he was surprised by criticism of President Nixon's plan to talk with the Apollo 11 men on the moon. He said it was the space agency's idea that the President call.

Borman, commenting on ABC-TV Sunday on some criticism directed at the White House about calling Neil A. Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. while they were busy on the moon's surface, said: "I guess you have to blame NASA."

"I think it's not only appropriate, but in his position as chief of state it is mandatory that he do it. I'm surprised that anyone in the nation could object to his speaking to his explorers, to our explorers on the moon," he said.

"We suggested that the President do just this 'speak to the moon men' as part of a 'package proposal' of Apollo 11 activities."

Heavy Rain Floods North Ohio Areas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A 15-year-old Garfield Heights boy was feared drowned Sunday in one of many floods that struck Northern Ohio communities in the Cleveland area following heavy rains.

Crews, aided by a crane to lift debris, were to continue their search today of Mill Creek in Garfield Heights for the body of Roger Marshall. He was one of three teen-aged boys on an aluminum canoe that overturned in the creek. The other two swam safely to a tree branch.

Hardest hit communities were the southeastern suburbs of Cuyahoga County, especially Warrensville Heights where Mayor Raymond J. Grabow estimated home damage between $50,000 to $100,000, and North Randall, where nearly 1,200 horses stalled at Thistledown and the old North Randall race tracks were forced to stand in knee-high water.

None of the horses died, but a track spokesman said it was the most damaging flood to warrens barns there in 10 years.

Solon and Bedford officials reported their cities received six inches of rain between 8 a.m. and noon Sunday, the U.S. Weather Bureau said.

No evacuations were reported in either city, but all main routes were blocked by water up to seven feet deep for a time Sunday in Solon and side streets in Bedford were temporarily under as much as three feet of water. About 40 homes in Solon temporarily lost electric power.

Kennedy To Face Charges In Auto Death

EDGARTOWN, Mass. (AP) — Police today filed a formal complaint charging Sen. Edward M. Kennedy with leaving the scene of an accident.

The complaint stems from a weekend wreck on Chappaquiddick Island, adjacent to Martha's Vineyard on which this small resort town is located. A young woman was killed and Kennedy injured, though apparently not seriously.

The complaint was filed by Police Chief Domenic J. Arena with the District Court Clerk Thomas A. Teller.

Arena said that an Edgartown

lawyer, Richard J. McCarran, had informed the clerk he is representing Kennedy. McCarran asked for a hearing, to which Kennedy is entitled before any summons is issued.

Teller set July 28 for the hearing, which will be held in the Edgartown courthouse.

A crowd of several hundred persons, mostly tourists, filled the street outside the red brick, century-old courthouse as Arena crossed the street from his headquarters in the Town Hall to visit the clerk.

Arena said Sunday he is "firmly convinced there was no negligence involved" in the accident.

"But the matter of the time period after the accident ...," Arena said. "There is, in my opinion, a violation concerning going from the scene, leaving the scene."

The mishap occurred between 11 p.m. Friday and 1 a.m. Saturday as Kennedy was driving Mary Jo Kopechne, 28, of Washington, to a landing to catch the ferry back to the Vineyard.

The car skidded off a narrow bridge and landed bottomup in eight feet of water. Kennedy escaped with what a physician said was a mild concussion. Miss Kopechne, former secretary to the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., was trapped in the vehicle and drowned.

Kennedy went to the police 10 hours after the accident. The car had been found by then; two boys going fishing saw its wheels beneath the water.

In a police statement, Kennedy said he was left dazed by the accident. He said he tried repeatedly to rescue Miss Kopechne, but was not able to find her.

The 37-year-old Massachusetts Democrat and Miss Kopechne had been at a dinner party at a private home on Chappaquiddick attended by several of Kennedy's friends and political associates. Kennedy said he returned to the home after the accident and climbed into the rear seat of a car parked outside.

"I then asked someone to bring me back to Edgartown," he continued. "I remember walking around for a period of time and then going back to my hotel room. When I fully realized what had happened this morning I immediately went to the police."

Families Of Apollo 11 Trio Find Journey 'Unbelievable'

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — No different from the rest of the nation, the proud Apollo 11 wives struggled to find enough adjectives to express their feelings for their men on the moon.

"The evening has been unbelievably perfect," Mrs. Neil Armstrong said today after watching the moon explorations of her husband and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. "It is an honor and privilege to share with my husband, the crew, the Manned Spacecraft Center, the American public and all of mankind this magnificent experience of the beginning of lunar exploration."

Earlier, Mrs. Armstrong expressed her feelings much more simply. "I was tremendously excited," she said.

"It was hard to think it was real until the men actually moved," said Mrs. Aldrin. "I felt I was looking at another simulation."

After the moon touchdown Mrs. Aldrin said she wept "because I was so happy."

"I thought it was fantastically marvelous," said Mrs. Michael Collins, whose husband flew a moon orbit in the command capsule while the two other crewmen visited the surface.

PICKAWAY Countians received relief from the 90's temperatures and high humidity Saturday when intermittent and scattered showers dropped temperatures and erased humidity. Additional showers Sunday held the thermometer reading at a comfortable high of 74 degrees. The local weather observer has predicted the onset of a "drying out" period commencing Tuesday with mostly sunny skies and no precipitation.

Nixon Talk NASA Idea

Heavy Rain Floods North Ohio Areas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A 15-year-old Garfield Heights boy was feared drowned Sunday in one of many floods that struck Northern Ohio communities in the Cleveland area following heavy rains.

Crews, aided by a crane to lift debris, were to continue their search today for the body of Roger Marshall. He was one of three teen-aged boys on an aluminum canoe that overturned in the creek. The other two swam safely to a tree branch.

Hardest hit communities were the southeastern suburbs of Cuyahoga County, especially Warrensville Heights where Mayor Raymond J. Grabow estimated home damage between $50,000 to $100,000, and North Randall, where nearly 1,200 horses stabled at Thistledown and the old North Randall race tracks were forced to stand in knee-high water.

None of the horses died, but a track spokesman said it was the most damaging flood to horse barns there in 10 years.

Solon and Bedford officials reported their cities received six inches of rain between 8 a.m. and noon Sunday, the U.S. Weather Bureau said.

No evacuations were reported in either city, but all main routes were blocked by water up to seven feet deep for a time Sunday in Solon and side streets in Bedford were temporarily under as much as three feet of water. About 40 homes in Solon temporarily lost electric power.

EDGARTOWN, Mass. (AP) — Police today filed a formal complaint charging Sen. Edward M. Kennedy with leaving the scene of an accident.

The complaint stems from a weekend wreck on Chappaquiddick Island, adjacent to Martha's Vineyard on which this small resort town is located. A young woman was killed and Kennedy injured, though apparently not seriously.

The complaint was filed by Police Chief Domenic J. Arena with the District Court Clerk Thomas A. Teller.

Arena said that an Edgartown

lawyer, Richard J. McCarran, had informed the clerk he is representing Kennedy. McCarran asked for a hearing, to which Kennedy is entitled before any summons is issued.

Teller set July 28 for the hearing, which will be held in the Edgartown courthouse.

A crowd of several hundred persons, mostly tourists, filled the street outside the red brick, century-old courthouse as Arena crossed the street from his headquarters in the Town Hall to visit the clerk.

Arena said Sunday he is "firmly convinced there was no negligence involved" in the accident.

"But the matter of the time period after the accident..." Arena said. "There is, in my opinion, a violation concerning going from the scene, leaving the scene."

The mishap occurred between 11 p.m. Friday and 1 a.m. Saturday as Kennedy was driving Mary Jo Kopechne, 28, of Washington, to a landing to catch the ferry back to the Vineyard.

The car skidded off a narrow bridge and landed bottomup in eight feet of water. Kennedy escaped with what a physician said was a mild concussion. Miss Kopechne, former secretary to the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., was trapped in the vehicle and drowned.

Kennedy went to the police 10 hours after the accident. The car had been found by then; two boys going fishing saw its wheels beneath the water.

In a police statement, Kennedy said he was left dazed by the accident. He said he tried repeatedly to rescue Miss Kopechne, but was not able to find her.

The 37-year old Massachusetts Democrat and Miss Kopechne

had been at a dinner party at a private home on Chappaquiddick attended by several of Kennedy's friends and political associates. Kennedy said he returned to the home after the accident and climbed into the rear seat of a car parked outside.

"I then asked someone to bring me back to Edgartown," he continued. "I remember walking around for a period of time and then going back to my hotel room. When I fully realized what had happened this morning I immediately went to the police."

Lawrence Brown Pleads Guilty To Forgery, Larceny

Lawrence Brown (alias Dr. Richard Harmon) admitted defeat in a 7-month battle with the courts in a bid for freedom and pleaded guilty to one count of forgery and one of larceny by trick Saturday.

Brown, posing as a dentist, wrote checks for over $120 worth of merchandise and cash in Circleville late last October, after he had opened a personal checking account with a $10 deposit at the Savings Bank.

Brown was sentenced by Common Pleas Court Judge William Ammer to a term of 1 to 20 years for forgery and 1 to 7 years for larceny by trick. The terms are to be served concurrently (at the same time) in the Ohio Penitentiary.

Arrested by Circleville Police last December in Jackson, Brown was originally charged and indicted on eight counts of forgery and two counts of larceny by trick.

Interest Rate Ceiling Removal Sought On Bonds

Kenneth F. Fosnaugh, Pickaway County Chairman for United States Savings Bonds, was queried today about the Treasury request to Congress to remove the interest rate ceiling on Savings Bonds and other Government securities.

According to the County Chairman, "If the legislative request is approved, the interest rate on Series E and H Savings Bonds will be raised from the current 4.25 per cent to 5 per cent, if held to maturity. The increase would be retroactive to June 1, 1969. All outstanding E and H Bonds would also benefit from the new 5 per cent rate, beginning with the first semiannual interest period which starts on or after June 1."

Series E Bonds will have their maturity period reduced from seven years to five years, 10 months. H Bond maturity will remain at 10 years. Both E and H Bonds would enjoy an automatic extension period. The present 5 per cent rate on Freedom Shares would continue unchanged until they are removed from sale six months after the proposed legislation becomes law. Authority to extend Freedom Shares at maturity is included in the Treasury's request.

Fosnaugh added that the Treasury's proposal "should give new impetus to the Savings Bonds Program throughout our area."

"While Savings Bonds have always been a good buy, the rate increase will make them even more attractive to the members of our communities who have been putting aside dollars regularly — through Payroll Savings Plans or over-the-counter purchases at their banks — saving for a new home, farm improvements, an automobile, college for the children, or a retirement nest egg."

circleville merchants. Eight of the original ten charges were dropped when Brown agreed to plead guilty to the two counts.

The pseudo-dentist withdrew an affidavit of prejudice he had filed against Judge Ammer, a motion for a change of venue and a writ of habeas corpus.

Allan Berger, Circleville attorney, was appointed by the court as Brown's defense lawyer, although the accused forger had expressed a desire to defend himself.

Judge Ammer has ordered Brown to make restitution of all property he has acquired in Ohio. City police have an estimated $10,000 worth of merchandise which Brown acquired in other communities, using a similar method of operation.

Eight other Ohio counties have holders against Brown, as well as the state of Kentucky, where he has been indicted on 13 counts of forgery, according to police.

Even though he pleaded guilty, Brown contended he was innocent of the charges. At the time of his arrest last December, Brown told law enforcement men that he intended to make restitution of everything he had acquired by writing bogus checks.

He said he did it only to prove the need for a special protection service he hoped to establish for small town merchants.

Wide Variety

(Continued from Page 1) ous geologists and astronomers expected they would. It took work to dig out two core samples and to plant the American flag.

They found rocks that look like basalt, born of volcanoes, and dark colored biotite, a dark colored mica that usually contains two to four per cent water. They found the surface dusty, getting their boots coated cocoa brown with it.

They set up a seismometer which soon was recording moon tremors, although these might be only from the footsteps of the astronauts, especially when they cavorted on the desert-like moon like kids in a playground.

If the moon still shimmies after they leave today, scientists think the ultra-sensitive instruments can tell them if the quakes come from volcanic activity, or hits by meteorites.

Incredibly calm most of the time, the astronauts performed well their role as good observers specially trained in geology. Medically, their excursion showed the moon to be not so fearful a place as cautious planners had had to paint it.

The men surprised doctors and others by their quick adaptation to the moon's low gravity. Their energy expenditure in their tasks was within the limits shown in their earth training, said Dr. Willard R. Hawkins, a flight surgeon.

Once, Neil Armstrong's heartbeat rose to 160 per minute, but this was called not critical, and Clifford Charlesworth, flight director, said it occurred when he was doing his hardest labors.

There were no indications the astronauts were hit by tiny micrometeorites.

Scientists were particularly delighted that the astronauts landed in an area with a great variety of rock types, as Edwin Aldrin described it.

"Landing near a crater is an unusual opportunity to collect rock samples which come from considerable depths (thrown out by meteoric impact) in comparison to the surface rocks," said Dr. Gerard P. Kuiper of the University of Arizona Lunar and Planetary Laboratory in Flagstaff. "This is an opportunity to pick up lunar lava in a scientifically perfect spot."

Columbus Trio Nabbed In Theft

Two men and a 17-year-old juvenile from Columbus were apprehended by Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy Don Thompson 1:17 a.m. Sunday night after they allegedly robbed 23 Auto Parts, just south of Circleville. The adults, Edwin Echelbarger and Charles Voight Jr., and the juvenile are in the Pickaway County Jail awaiting preliminary hearings on the petit larceny charge.

Thompson picked the trio up after a call from a DuPont watchman who became suspicious when he saw the car loitering around the wrecking yard.

World Sees . . .

Although at times it appeared they were on a romp in the park, Armstrong and Aldrin carried out a true exploration of the moon.

Astronauts . . .

(Continued from Page 1) the moon, they set up a small mirror to reflect laser beams from earth, to measure the quarter million miles between the two planets to an accuracy of six inches. And they planted the flag of their country on the still face of the moon.

Finally, Aldrin to Earth: "Anything for us before I head up?"

Earth: "Negative. Head on up the ladder, Buzz."

Buzz was first up. Armstrong stayed a few minutes longer, carefully guiding the hoisting of the rock boxes like the last pirate off an island with a load of gold. Then Armstrong climbed up, the captain being the last to return from alien land.

And now the moon was motionless again. All that remained was the landing craft, looking like a surrealistic crab, and the scientific instruments, and the American flag frozen in arrested motion, and in the stillness the mystery of the moon began to end for scientists and the mystique of the moon began to end for poets and lovers.

Ohio Senate Faces Major Legislation

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio House marks time this week to give the Senate a chance to catch up on major legislation.

The House, which has passed the administration's $1.85 billion education-tax bill and cleared three major capital improvements proposals last week, has a floor session today and committee meetings tonight and Tuesday and then will recess to await Senate action.

Three Senate committees, meanwhile, will hear the education bill tonight.

The Ways and Means Committee will consider Sen. Michael Maloney's amendment to the bill to add a third penny to the two-cent cigarette tax increase already written into the measure.

The added cent would permit the state to increase its aid to local governments by about $12 million a year.

Proposed changes in the public school section of the bill, which a number of other things would increase aid to poor rural school districts, will be heard by a subcommittee of the Education, Health and Welfare Committee.

In the Senate Finance Committee, an Ohio Board of Regents amendment that would transfer $1.5 million now earmarked for state loans to private college students to graduate programs on public campuses was due for a hearing.

Senate Majority Leader Theodore M. Gray, R-3 Piqua, said he was "hopeful" that committee deliberations could be concluded by Thursday, but committee chairmen were skeptical about this prospect.

The Senate is scheduled to vote Tuesday on a bill providing pay raises for 87 per cent of the state's 47,000 employees. It would cost $29.5 million over two years.

Dr. King Brother Is Found Dead In Swimming Pool

King came home late Sunday night and went for a swim in his backyard pool and his body was found this morning by three of his children, said the Rev. Andrew Young.

Cause of death was not learned immediately.

Several times they tested their ability to move about in the one-sixth gravity field of the moon, loping like antelopes, and bounding like kangaroos.

"It's not difficult at all moving about in one-sixth 'G,'" commander Armstrong reported, as he flashed before the camera like a graceful gazelle.

The camera was mounted 40 or 50 feet away from the LM so that earthlings could watch their entire period outside—2 hours, 14 minutes for Armstrong and one hour, 44 minutes for Aldrin.

One of those who could not watch on television was Collins, flying the lonely vigil overhead, awaiting the return of his companions. He checked with mission control occasionally for a progress report on the surface activity, but he generally was a forgotten man to the world.

Armstrong and Aldrin gave vivid descriptions of their wild and wondrous world and collected two boxes of rock and soil samples which they will return to earth for analysis.

The moonmen also deployed two scientific instruments on the moon to relay data long after they left. They were a seismometer to measure moonquakes and other disturbances and a small mirror to reflect earth laser beams fired from California back to earth.

The sensitive seismometer, monitored on earth, picked up the footsteps of the astronauts and recorded a thump when they turned litterbug and dumped a bag of unneeded equipment overboard after returning to their landing vehicle.

Praise . . .

There was no word from the Vatican on whether Pope Paul VI stayed up to watch the walk, but when the astronauts landed the 71-year-old pontiff hailed them as "conquerors of the moon." He said man faces "the expanse of endless space and a new destiny."

In Venezuela, today is a national holiday, and the bells of hundreds of churches pealed during the walk. A Japanese girl in Tokyo said as she watched a street-side monitor, "It's like a dream, although I know it's not a dream."

One Yugoslav teen-ager sounded a dissent: "They have stolen the romance out of the moon and it will never be the same again. Now the moon is real and lovers won't have it for themselves alone anymore."

In arctic Norway where the midnight sun kept skies bright through the night, Laplanders sat around their campfires composing sing-song folk poems about the astronauts as they listened to their transistors.

Poles jammed the lobby of the U.S. Embassy in Warsaw while hundreds applauded outside. Soviet media reported the landing without fanfare, but many Russians undoubtedly staved up to listen to Western broadcasts about the exploration.

Pravda, the Soviet Union's leading newspaper, gave the U.S. moon triumph only a small headline above a small story near the bottom of the front page.

In a more prominent place at the top of the page was a larger story on the shift of Luna 15, the unmanned Soviet spacecraft, closer to the moon. Pravda said he was "hopeful" that committee deliberations could be concluded by Thursday, but committee chairmen were skeptical about this prospect.

The Senate is scheduled to vote Tuesday on a bill providing pay raises for 87 per cent of the state's 47,000 employees. It would cost $29.5 million over two years.

JIM Mosley pointed out that although he didn't see the actual first step on the moon, he was elated that the United States could accomplish such a feat. He also explained too, that the Bible had foretold that the landing would happen. "The landing brings us another step closer to the second coming of Christ," he said.

Others commented that the trip of the three astronauts was the "greatest thing that ever happened." Some expressed worry for the safety of the astronauts in their return trip home. But most thought that the adventures of the three men would benefit mankind and could lead us closer to universal peace.

Light Rains Don't Affect Heat Wave

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Shower activity that dampened the eastern and southern sections of the nation Sunday evening diminished through the night.

Rainfall was generally light and not expected to affect the hot spell that has gripped the southern states for the last month. The Weather Bureau five-day forecast did indicate some relief for the area by Tuesday, with below average temperatures predicted.

Locally heavy rain was recorded at Albany, N.Y., where more than an inch of rain fell, and at Colorado Springs, Colo., which got nearly an inch.

Alabama reported heavy storms over most of the state, with a tornado sighted near Birmingham. No damage was done.

The northwest is clear, with a few showers noted in the northern Rocky Mountains and West-Central Plains.

Early morning temperatures ranged from 52 at Hoquiam, Wash., to 91 at Needles, Calif.

Anticrime Funds To Be Boosted

WASHINGTON (AP) — A big increase in funds to combat crime in the streets and drug abuses was approved today by the House Appropriations Committee.

The actions were taken by the committee in approving a bill that would appropriate $2.5 billion for the departments of State, Commerce and Justice during the current fiscal year.

The total goes over the budget estimates of the Nixon administration which asked for only $16 million for the construction of new merchant marine ships but will get $200 million if the committee action is sustained by Congress.

Viet Battlefields Reported Quiet

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnam's battlefields were reported quiet today, with only one minor incident reported in the first eight hours after the U.S. moon landing.

The U.S. Command said operations of American troops in the field were proceeding normally. But the only action reported in the first hours after Apollo 11's lunar module touched down as a six-round mortar attack on a South Vietnamese camp a mile south of the demilitarized zone. It caused no casualties or damage.

"There's just not a bloody thing going on," said one officer.

Little action also was reported Sunday as the lull in the war continued into a fifth week.

The U.S. Command reported 18 enemy shells from 8 a.m. Sunday to 8 a.m. today, including four attacks on U.S. bases. Five of the attacks caused casualties among the Vietnamese, but there were no American casualties, the command said.

The U.S. Command also announced the closing out of Operation Mighty Play, a search-and-clear operation by American and South Korean Marines along the coast seven miles south of Da Nang.

The operation began July 10 and resulted in 31 enemy killed, the U.S. Command said, with American losses of three killed and 34 wounded, most of them by booby traps and mines in the coastal dunes. It was the third large Marine operation closed out in the northern provinces in the last week.

A U.S. Marine helicopter hauling South Vietnamese troops was shot down 22 miles southwest of Da Nang, killing nine South Vietnamese and injuring one American and eight South

Fierce Mideast Fighting Erupts

Worst Outbreak Since 1967 War

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ground and air battles raged along the Suez Canal Sunday in the Middle East's fiercest fighting since the 1967 Arab-Israeli war.

The action began when Israeli commandos attacked Green Island, an Egyptian fortress in the Gulf of Suez, before dawn. Israeli jets followed up 12 hours later, hitting Egyptian positions across the canal for the first time since the 1967 war.

Egyptian planes then made a series of raids on Israeli targets in the occupied Sinai desert.

The Egyptians claimed they shot down 19 Israeli jets, one during the Green Island raid and the rest in dogfights along the canal. The Israelis admitted losing two Mirage fighters, but said they shot down five Egyptian planes.

Artillery duels raged for more than six hours up and down the 103-mile waterway. U.N. observers pleaded twice for a ceasefire, but the ground and air fighting continued.

Israel said three of its soldiers were killed and three wounded by artillery fire. The Israelis reported six commandos killed and nine wounded in the attack on Green Island; Egypt claimed 30 Israelis killed.

An Egyptian spokesman said today that his government was "seriously studying the escalation of fighting" and "the Israeli aim behind such escalation."

Interest Rate Ceiling Removal Sought On Bonds

Kenneth F. Fosnaugh, Pickaway County Chairman for United States Savings Bonds, was queried today about the Treasury request to Congress to remove the interest rate ceiling on Savings Bonds and other Government securities.

According to the County Chairman, "If the legislative request is approved, the interest rate on Series E and H Savings Bonds will be raised from the current 4.25 per cent to 5 per cent, if held to maturity. The increase would be retroactive to June 1, 1969. All outstanding E and H Bonds would also benefit from the new 5 per cent rate, beginning with the first semi-annual interest period which starts on or after June 1."

Series E Bonds will have their maturity period reduced from seven years to five years, 10 months. H Bond maturity will remain at 10 years. Both E and H Bonds would enjoy an automatic extension period. The present 5 per cent rate on Freedom Shares would continue unchanged until they are removed from sale six months after the proposed legislation becomes law. Authority to extend Freedom Shares at maturity is included in the Treasury's request.

Fosnaugh added that the Treasury's proposal "should give new impetus to the Savings Bonds Program throughout our area."

"While Savings Bonds have always been a good buy, the rate increase will make them even more attractive to the members of our communities who have been putting aside dollars regularly — through Payroll Savings Plans or over-the-counter purchases at their banks — saving for a new home, farm improvements, an automobile, college for the children, or a retirement nest egg."

World Sees . . .

Although at times it appeared they were on a romp in the park, Armstrong and Aldrin carried out a true exploration of the moon.

Astronauts . . .

(Continued from Page 1) the moon, they set up a small mirror to reflect laser beams from earth, to measure the quarter million miles between the two planets to an accuracy of six inches. And they planted the flag of their country on the still face of the moon.

Finally, Aldrin to Earth: "Anything for us before I head up?"

Earth: "Negative. Head on up the ladder, Buzz."

Buzz was first up. Armstrong stayed a few minutes longer, carefully guiding the hoisting of the rock boxes like the last pirate off an island with a load of gold. Then Armstrong climbed up, the captain being the last to return from alien land.

And now the moon was motionless again. All that remained was the landing craft, looking like a surrealist crab, and the scientific instruments, and the American flag frozen in arrested motion, and in the stillness the mystery of the moon began to end for scientists and the mystique of the moon began to end for poets and lovers.

Ohio Senate Faces Major Legislation

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio House marks time this week to give the Senate a chance to catch up on major legislation.

The House, which has passed the administration's $1.85 billion education-tax bill and cleared three major capital improvements proposals last week, has a floor session today and committee meetings tonight and Tuesday and then will recess to await Senate action.

Three Senate committees, meanwhile, will hear the education bill tonight.

The Ways and Means Committee will consider Sen. Michael Maloney's amendment to the bill to add a third penny to the two-cent cigarette tax increase already written into the measure.

The added cent would permit the state to increase its aid to local governments by about $12 million a year.

Proposed changes in the public school section of the bill, which among other things would increase aid to poor rural school districts, will be heard by a subcommittee of the Education, Health and Welfare Committee.

In the Senate Finance Committee, an Ohio Board of Regents amendment that would transfer $1.5 million now earmarked for state loans to private college students to graduate programs on public campuses was due for a hearing.

Senate Majority Leader Theodore M. Gray, R-3 Piqua, said he was "hopeful" that committee deliberations could be concluded by Thursday, but committee chairmen were skeptical about this prospect.

The Senate is scheduled to vote Tuesday on a bill providing pay raises for 87 per cent of the state's 47,000 employees. It would cost $29.5 million over two years.

Cause of death was not learned immediately.

Several times they tested their ability to move about in the one-sixth gravity field of the moon, loping like antelopes, and bounding like kangaroos.

"It's not difficult at all moving about in one-sixth 'G,'" commander Armstrong reported, as he flashed before the camera like a graceful gazelle.

The camera was mounted 40 or 50 feet away from the LM so that earthlings could watch their entire period outside—2 hours, 14 minutes for Armstrong and one hour, 44 minutes for Aldrin.

One of those who could not watch on television was Collins, flying the lonely vigil overhead, awaiting the return of his companions. He checked with mission control occasionally for a progress report on the surface activity, but he generally was a forgotten man to the world.

Armstrong and Aldrin gave vivid descriptions of their wild and wondrous world and collected two boxes of rock and soil samples which they will return to earth for analysis.

The moonmen also deployed two scientific instruments on the moon to relay data long after they left. They were a seismometer to measure moonquakes and other disturbances and a small mirror to reflect earth laser beams fired from California back to earth.

The sensitive seismometer, monitored on earth, picked up the footsteps of the astronauts and recorded a thump when they turned litterbug and dumped a bag of unneeded equipment overboard after returning to their landing vehicle.

Praise . . .

There was no word from the Vatican on whether Pope Paul VI stayed up to watch the walk, but when the astronauts landed the 71-year-old pontiff hailed them as "conquerors of the moon." He said man faces "the expanse of endless space and a new destiny."

In Venezuela, today is a national holiday, and the bells of hundreds of churches pealed during the walk. A Japanese girl in Tokyo said she watched a streetside monitor. "It's like a dream, although I know it's not a dream."

One Yugoslav teen-ager sounded a dissent: "They have stolen the romance out of the moon and it will never be the same again. Now the moon is real and lovers won't have it for themselves alone anymore."

In arctic Norway where the midnight sun kept skies bright through the night, Laplanders sat around their campfires composing sing-song folk poems about the astronauts as they listened to their transmitters.

Poles jammed the lobby of the U.S. Embassy in Warsaw while hundreds applauded outside. Soviet media reported the landing without fanfare, but many Russians undoubtedly staved up to listen to Western broadcasts about the exploration.

Pravda, the Soviet Union's leading newspaper, gave the U.S. moon triumph only a small headline above a small story near the bottom of the front page.

In a more prominent place at the top of the page was a larger story on the shift of Luna 15, the unmanned Soviet spacecraft, closer to the moon. Pravda still gave no hint what Luna 15's mission was.

At headquarters bases and other rear areas in Vietnam Americans gathered around radios at midmorning to hear the broadcast of the walk as did the staff at the U.S. Embassy in Saigon.

JIM Mosley pointed out that although he didn't see the actual first step on the moon, he was elated that the United States could accomplish such a feat. He also explained too, that the Bible had foretold that the landing would happen. "The landing brings us another step closer to the second coming of Christ," he said.

"It's the American way of life. Armstrong is just like another Columbus," commented Russ Palm, when asked his opinion of the lunar program.

"It's a wonderful thing to be able to watch fiction become reality," said Dr. Walter Heine, "I can remember when I saw this sort of thing only in comic books. It could be the most unifying thing that ever happened to man."

Others commented that the trip of the three astronauts was the "greatest thing that ever happened." Some expressed worry for the safety of the astronauts in their return trip home. But most thought that the adventures of the three men would benefit mankind and could lead us closer to universal peace.

Light Rains Don't Affect Heat Wave

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Shower activity that dampened the eastern and southern sections of the nation Sunday evening diminished through the night.

Rainfall was generally light and not expected to affect the hot spell that has gripped the southern states for the last month. The Weather Bureau five-day forecast did indicate some relief for the area by Tuesday, with below average temperatures predicted.

Locally heavy rain was recorded at Albany, N.Y., where more than an inch of rain fell, and at Colorado Springs, Colo., which got nearly an inch.

Alabama reported heavy storms over most of the state, with a tornado sighted near Birmingham. No damage was done.

The northwest is clear, with a few showers noted in the northern Rocky Mountains and West-Central Plains.

Early morning temperatures ranged from 52 at Houghton, Wash., to 91 at Needles, Calif.

Anticrime Funds To Be Boosted

WASHINGTON (AP) — A big increase in funds to combat crime in the streets and drug abuses was approved today by the House Appropriations Committee.

The actions were taken by the committee in approving a bill that would appropriate $2.5 billion for the departments of State, Commerce and Justice during the current fiscal year.

The total goes over the budget estimates of the Nixon administration which asked for only $16 million for the construction of new merchant marine ships but will get $200 million if the committee action is sustained by Congress.

Viet Battlefields Reported Quiet

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnam's battlefields were reported quiet today, with only one minor incident reported in the first eight hours after the U.S. moon landing.

The U.S. Command said operations of American troops in the field were proceeding normally. But the only action reported in the first hours after Apollo 11's lunar module touched down as a six-round mortar attack on a South Vietnamese camp a mile south of the demilitarized zone. It caused no casualties or damage.

"There's just not a bloody thing going on," said one officer.

Little action also was reported Sunday as the lull in the war continued into a fifth week.

The U.S. Command reported 18 enemy shells from 8 a.m. Sunday to 8 a.m. today, including four attacks on U.S. bases. Five of the attacks caused casualties among the Vietnamese, but there were no American casualties, the command said.

The U.S. Command also announced the closing out of Operation Mighty Play, a search-and-clear operation by American and South Korean Marines along the coast seven miles south of Da Nang.

The operation began July 10 and resulted in 31 enemy killed, the U.S. Command said, with American losses of three killed and 34 wounded, most of them by booby traps and mines in the coastal dunes. It was the third large Marine operation closed out in the northern provinces in the last week.

Fierce Mideast Fighting Erupts

Worst Outbreak Since 1967 War

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Ground and air battles raged along the Suez Canal Sunday in the Middle East's fiercest fighting since the 1967 Arab-Israeli war.

The action began when Israeli commandos attacked Green Island, an Egyptian fortress in the Gulf of Suez, before dawn. Israeli jets followed up 12 hours later, hitting Egyptian positions across the canal for the first time since the 1967 war.

Egyptian planes then made a series of raids on Israeli targets in the occupied Sinai desert.

The Egyptians claimed they shot down 19 Israeli jets, one during the Green Island raid and the rest in dogfights along the canal. The Israelis admitted losing two Mirage fighters, but said they shot down five Egyptian planes.

Artillery duels raged for more than six hours up and down the 103-mile waterway. U.N. observers pleaded twice for a ceasefire, but the ground and air fighting continued.

Israel said three of its soldiers were killed and three wounded by artillery fire. The Israelis reported six commandos killed and nine wounded in the attack on Green Island; Egypt claimed 30 Israelis killed.

An Egyptian spokesman said today that his government was "seriously studying the escalation of fighting" and "the Israeli aim behind such escalation."

Vietnamese. It was the 2,862nd helicopter reported lost in the war.

North Vietnam reported its antiaircraft gunners shot down another pilotless American reconnaissance plane. There was no comment from the U.S. Command in Saigon, which refuses to give any information on operations of such planes over North Vietnam.

South Vietnamese forces reported killing 61 Viet Cong or North Vietnamese in clashes near Dong Ha and Quang Tri, 10 to 12 miles south of the DMZ. The government said four of its troops were killed and six wounded.

Laser Test Unsuccessful

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — Scientists at Lick Observatory atop nearby Mt. Hamilton tried unsuccessfully Sunday to bounce a ruby laser beam off a reflector placed on the moon's surface by the Apollo 11 astronauts.

Joseph Miller, assistant astronomer, said wrong coordinates from Houston's Space Center caused the laser to be beamed 50 miles away from the reflector.

The experiment is designed to measure precisely the distance from the earth to the moon by the radar-like method of measuring how long the quick burst takes to reach the moon and return to earth, and to measure any wobble in the orbits of each and to detect any shift in the earth's continents.

Looters Busy In Farrell, Pa.

FARRELL, Pa. (AP) — Roving bands of looters today broke windows in about 20 stores and fire-bombed others in downtown Farrell, police said.

Police Chief William Caputo said he had no idea what sparked five hours of disturbances in which two arrests were made for looting.

Caputo said there were no major injuries and termed the situation as being under control. He refused to estimate how many persons took part in the violence.

City officials in the town of 15,000 met today to decide whether to impose a curfew. Farrell is directly across the border from Youngstown, Ohio, which just ended a weekend of calm following racial disturbances last week.

Candidate Shaves Beard On Request

DUDLEY, England (AP) — Joe Payne, 28, announced his candidacy to the town council on the labor party ticket and then went out and bought a razor.

"I was asked whether I would shave off my beard if I were selected by the party," Joe said. "I said I would leave it to the ladies and they decided it had to come off."

So it came off.

Oil Bonanza Security

Industrial espionage is as old as industry. In more raucous days of industrial competition, espionage could include anything from blowing up a competitor's plant to intimidating his employees or tampering with his machinery.

Today, techniques are more genteel and consist almost entirely of trying to find out what the other fellow is doing, how he is doing it and who he is selling it to. Even this more refined interest, it has been estimated, costs industry millions of dollars a year in stolen plans, copied products and lost customers.

As might be expected, industrial espionage — in the form of oil scouts — has come to the world's most exciting petroleum discovery, the Arctic slope of Alaska. What has been called the most stringent security measures ever employed by the oil industry are in effect. At stake could be fortunes in oil leases.

On Sept. 11, the state will accept competitive bids for leases on more than 400,000 acres of North slope land. Some estimates are that the bids will total more than $1 billion.

Until that time, the busiest people in the region will be the oil scouts trying to find out as much as they can about a competitor's discoveries.

'Whoopers' Gain

Slowly, very slowly, the almost decimated whooping crane population is being regenerated by biologists in Canada and the United States who stepped in just in time to prevent the total destruction of this majestic bird.

With a care that is painstakingly exacting, the latest addition to the crane family was hatched recently in the zoo at San Antonio. Including the seven eggs which were hatched after being brought to the Patuxent Wildlife Research Center in Maryland from Wood Buffalo National Park in Northern Alberta, this brings the total number of whooping cranes in captivity to 25. Approximately 50 exist in the wild state.

Little more than a decade ago the total number of these birds was less than 30, with none being hatched in captivity. Those now captive will be used for a stocking program which should produce hundreds living in a free state not many years from now.

But whooping cranes are not guaranteed survival as a species yet — their numbers are still too small.

Insatiable

Russian planners are becoming increasingly concerned about what they call the "fetish" for automobiles and other consumer goods which is a developing among the proletariat. The desire for more than the Soviet market place can produce is having an "unhealthy" effect on the people, says a Soviet research team.

It is strange, but some observers have said this about the Western world, which has been successful in producing all manner of consumer goods for the masses. Just as too little food is not good for a person, neither is too much.

What these soothsayers are belatedly discovering is the ancient economic law which holds the appetite of the consumer is insatiable. Only two things stop him from acquiring more of the products of his age: Availability of the goods and the wherewithal.

This is a process known as keeping up with the onekis.

According To Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

The U.S. population is growing older. Back around 1990 only four per cent of the people were over 65. But government figures indicate that by 1975 one in 10 persons—some 20 million—will be in the senior citizens bracket.

Speaking of age, here's a novel way to classify yourself. If the first love letter you wrote took a 4-cent stamp, you're still young. If it had a 3-cent stamp, you're middle-aged. If it had a 2-cent stamp, you're ancient.

Are the frustrations of life in crowded cities a major cause of heart attacks? Dr. Robert W. Wissler of the University of Chicago doubts it. A study he made of caged and uncaged monkeys found little statistical difference in their cholesterol levels and artery-hardening rate.

Thin people are more likely than fat people to be bitten by mosquitoes. The reason: they generally have a higher metabolism and emit more heat, which attracts the insects.

The open road is becoming more deadly. Every 11 minutes around the clock an American man, woman, or child is killed in a highway accident. Every nine seconds someone is hurt badly enough to be disabled for more than a day.

Quotable notables: "When you're a blonde, people sort of lean forward when you ask them a question. They take your arm to keep you from falling into an open manhole. But when you're a brunette . . . you're just one of the bunch."—actress Carol Channing.

Speed-up: By signing only his first and last names to official documents—omitting the middle name or initial—President Nixon is reported to save 47.8 seconds a day, according to the New Yorker magazine. That gives him about four minutes more a week to solve major crises at home and abroad.

Household hint: If you can't seal an envelope because it has too little adhesive, use colorless nail polish as a glue. It dries quickly, leaves no smudge. A further advantage: the envelope can't be steamed open and resealed.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

ONE OF THE leading vets in Sullivan County received this query from a local farmer: "Sometimes my horse walks perfectly normally, but more and more frequently I notice he has a pronounced limp. What do you suggest?" The obliging vet answered, "Next time he's walking normally, sell him."

"It's easy enough to make money," asserts Joan Rivers, "if only you know how." For example, she points to an immigrant who landed here penniless and though he learned only three words of English, is worth a fortune today. The three words were, "Stick 'em up!"

The reactions of many Canadians to their United States neighbors are ambivalent, to say the least. Here is how Canada's popular prime minister, Pierre Trudeau, summarized the situation in a characteristically witty speech at Washington's National Press Club: "Living next to you is in some ways like sleeping with an elephant. No matter how friendly or even-tempered is the beast, if I can call it that, one is affected by every twitch and grunt."

One of the fairest mail offers received among thousands by Ringo, one of the Beatles, came from an adoring female who wrote, "Just marry me, Ringo darling, and I'll never bother you again."

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I want to be a nurse and my parents think this is a good idea. One of my aunts, who once studied nursing but never became one, is giving me a hard time. She keeps telling my family that this is a menial job and that I would do better if I continued my education and became a teacher. How can I overcome her prejudice?

Miss W. R., Rhode Island
Dear Miss R.: I believe your aunt's prejudice is her own problem and she must find reasons for it. It may be she is a frustrated nurse and cannot enjoy the fact that you will reach the fulfillment that evaded her. Your desires and your parents' understanding must not be swayed by someone whose attitudes have no mature basis.

If "menial" means tenderness and kindness to others, your aunt is right. If "menial" means the excitement of working with patients, playing a role in surgery, seeing the evolution of remarkable scientific achievements, then your aunt is right. If living in a dignified world with other nurses, young doctors, and older teachers is "menial" then your aunt is right.

But she is dead wrong. The nursing profession is no longer an occupation of servants in uniform. These dedicated, well-trained students of medicine are part of a health team who serve the sick and reap many benefits from their accomplishments.

Nurses are an invaluable force in the eventual recovery of all patients from illnesses. Anyone who has ever been sick can attest to this statement. The gratification of being a part of today's medicine will bring you many years of joy and an inner glow that comes with giving.

The training of the modern nurse is "continued education." Advanced degrees in nursing, sociology, and even doctorates are available to those who wish to teach nursing. One does not compare the advantages of being a nurse to that of being a teacher. And certainly one does not let the biased judgment of another person influence their decision. The rewards of teaching are great, too, but the choice depends only on your own inner drives.

What is chronic phlebitis and what causes it?

Mr. L. D., Ohio

Dear Mr. D.: Phlebitis is an inflammation or an infection of the inner lining of the veins. This can occur anywhere in the body, but most frequently happens in the veins of the legs and the arms. Injury is one of the most common causes of phlebitis. Many of us can recall how an infection at the tip of the finger or the toe is followed by red streaks up the arm of the leg. This is due to inflammation of the veins.

Tobacco is a very common cause of phlebitis, especially in those who are highly sensitive to it. Buerger's disease causes phlebitis along with changes in the arteries.

Phlebitis deserves immediate attention. If the blood vessels are not treated with rest and antibiotics, clots can form within them and interfere with the blood circulation.

The art of freezing and preserving foods in home freezers, should be studied carefully to avoid contamination by bacteria.

GOP Ombudsman Helps Solons Keep In Touch

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House, trying to cool its sometimes hot and jangled circuits to Capitol Hill, has set up an ombudsman operation to hear Republican Congress members' complaints and make them feel wanted.

"This makes it plain to them we're trying to be accessible," says the ombudsman, Bryce Harlow, President Nixon's chief liaison man with Congress.

The ombudsman operation—an idea imported from Europe—usually is intended to help the average citizens who have trouble with government.

In this case it is to help Capitol Hill Republicans who have fussed that they are having problems getting in touch with the executive officials.

Millions of grunion, the tasty fish that spawn in the beach sand of Southern California in early summer, seem to understand sea tides. They wiggle onto the wet beach just after the once-a-month high tide so that their eggs will have time to develop in the sand while safely out of reach of the sea.

Nixon's Option In Vietnam

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

If a sellout in Vietnam were in prospect, as some people hope and other people fear, would President Nixon be combining his trip to Asia with an appearance at the moon-voyage splashdown? Obviously, the President is gambling that nothing will go wrong with the moon landing. He could hardly be thinking of linking the hoped-for proof of America's ability to carry through the most ticklish of space conquests with anything as abject as craven, as a confession to the South Vietnamese, the Thais, the Indonesians and the Philippines that we were contemplating a Southeast Asian bug-out.

The probability is that Nixon, who knows something about the fitness of things, will be asked many more questions than he is prepared to answer during his tour of the East. His position at home, with the more ferocious of the doves threatening to pin the label of "Nixon's war" on him, forces him to talk hopefully of beating Clark Clifford's suggested schedule for withdrawing a hundred thousand troops from South Vietnam within the year.

But if Ho Chi Minh refuses to accommodate him with a compromise at Paris that could be presented as honorable, the President can scarcely afford to settle the Vietnamese issue with surrender. The French could get out of Algeria and the British could decamp from the Middle East with relative impunity, for the world balance no longer swings on what any nation in western Europe chooses to do outside its own continent. But if the U.S. shuts up shop and goes home, the world balance automatically swings to the Communists.

A bug-out in Vietnam would set the stage in the U.S. for a rapid growth of the most sinister sort of stab-in-the-back legend. The victims would begin with McNamara's Whiz Kids (for "computerizing" us into impotence with their theories of "graduated" warfare that telegraphed all our punches to Ho Chi Minh) and go on to the political leaders, who would be accused of forcing our generals to fight with "one hand tied behind our back."

The Vietnamese War veterans' Rubicon might not take the form of a march in Washington, but it would surely be felt at the polls in the 1972 election. Veteran would be arrayed against SDS'er and beatnik (as has already been foreshadowed by the Connecticut marine officer Medal of Honor winner, Captain Harvey Barnum, who recently threatened to smash anyone's teeth in if the labors of his buddies in Vietnam are criticized).

Nixon, a profoundly political animal, will almost certainly refuse to be the first U.S. President ever to admit losing a war. But just as certainly he cannot go on living with the present situation. He must either obtain some honorable settlement at Paris by the time of the 1970 elections, or he must demonstrate fairly soon that he has the whole thing in Vietnam well in hand.

If the Paris talks continue to frustrate him, Nixon has an option suggested by the Britisher, Sir Robert Thompson, and some British veterans of the Malaysian War at a London seminar last winter. British observers, along with Herman Kahn of our own Hudson Institute, have long been dumbfounded by the fact that the Americans have fought for five years in Vietnam without even encouraging the creation of a South Vietnamese rural police, force to take over in the countryside. The Viet Cong has never managed to do much inside the cities, for these are well policed. But the countryside has been left wide open, especially at night, to the Viet Cong, who move as they please in and around between any villages that are not held by our military force.

The British finally pacified Malaysia by training a constabulary of fifty thousand in the arts of sniffing out and clamping down on Communist guerrillas. It stands to reason that a hundred thousand skilled South Vietnamese rural police, willing to patrol the villages and the space between them, would do wonders to back up an Asian army that could still count on U.S. air and logistical support. With an able constabulary at work in South Vietnam, Nixon could afford to cap Clark Clifford's figure for withdrawals. He could take out 150,000 U.S. soldiers, not all of them front-line combat men, in time for the 1970 Congressional elections. This would not be final victory, but, coupled with a statement to the college and high school generations that all post-1970 military replacements in South Vietnam would be on a volunteer basis, it would serve. We could then get the war back on the track without the escalation that everybody fears, and we might even have some money left over to take care of our city jungles at home.

Hatlo's They'll Do It Every Time

Oil Bonanza Security

Industrial espionage is as old as industry. In more raucous days of industrial competition, espionage could include anything from blowing up a competitor's plant to intimidating his employees or tampering with his machinery.

Today, techniques are more genteel and consist almost entirely of trying to find out what the other fellow is doing, how he is doing it and who he is selling it to. Even this more refined interest, it has been estimated, costs industry millions of dollars a year in stolen plans, copied products and lost customers.

As might be expected, industrial espionage — in the form of oil scouts — has come to the world's most exciting petroleum discovery, the Arctic slope of Alaska. What has been called the most stringent security measures ever employed by the oil industry are in effect. At stake could be fortunes in oil leases.

On Sept. 11, the state will accept competitive bids for leases on more than 400,000 acres of North slope land. Some estimates are that the bids will total more than $1 billion.

Until that time, the busiest people in the region will be the oil scouts trying to find out as much as they can about a competitor's discoveries.

'Whoopers' Gain

Slowly, very slowly, the almost decimated whooping crane population is being regenerated by biologists in Canada and the United States who stepped in just in time to prevent the total destruction of this majestic bird.

With a care that is painstakingly exacting, the latest addition to the crane family was hatched recently in the zoo at San Antonio. Including the seven eggs which were hatched after being brought to the Patuxent Wildlife Research Center in Maryland from Wood Buffalo National Park in Northern Alberta, this brings the total number of whooping cranes in captivity to 25. Approximately 50 exist in the wild state.

Little more than a decade ago the total number of these birds was less than 30, with none being hatched in captivity. Those now captive will be used for a stocking program which should produce hundreds living in a free state not many years from now.

But whooping cranes are not guaranteed survival as a species yet — their numbers are still too small.

Insatiable

Russian planners are becoming increasingly concerned about what they call the "fetish" for automobiles and other consumer goods which is a developing among the proletariat. The desire for more than the Soviet market place can produce is having an "unhealthy" effect on the people, says a Soviet research team.

It is strange, but some observers have said this about the Western world, which has been successful in producing all manner of consumer goods for the masses, up as too little food is not good for a person, neither is too much.

What these soothsayers are belatedly discovering is the ancient economic law which holds the appetite of the consumer is insatiable. Only two things stop him from acquiring more of the products of his age: Availability of the goods and the wherewithal.

This is a process known as keeping up with the onekis.

According To Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

The U.S. population is growing older. Back around 1900 only four per cent of the people were over 65. But government figures indicate that by 1975 one in 10 persons—some 20 million—will be in the senior citizens bracket.

Speaking of age, here's a novel way to classify yourself. If the first letter you wrote took a 4-cent stamp, you're still young. If it had a 3-cent stamp, you're middle-aged. If it had a 2-cent stamp, you're ancient.

Are the frustrations of life in crowded cities a major cause of heart attacks? Dr. Robert W. Wissler of the University of Chicago doubts it. A study he made of caged and uncaged monkeys found little statistical difference in their cholesterol levels and artery-hardening rate.

Thin people are more likely than fat people to be bitten by mosquitoes. The reason: they generally have a higher metabolism and emit more heat, which attracts the insects.

The open road is becoming more deadly. Every 11 minutes around the clock an American man, woman, or child is killed in a highway accident. Every nine seconds someone is hurt badly enough to be disabled for more than a day.

Quotable notables: "When you're a blonde, people sort of lean forward when you ask them a question. They take your arm to keep you from falling into an open manhole. But when you're a brunette . . . you're just one of the bunch."—actress Carol Channing.

Injury is one of the most common causes of phlebitis. Many of us can recall how an infection at the tip of the finger or the toe is followed by red streaks up the arm of the leg. This is due to inflammation of the veins.

Tobacco is a very common cause of phlebitis, especially in those who are highly sensitive to it. Buerger's disease causes phlebitis along with changes in the arteries.

Phlebitis deserves immediate attention. If the blood vessels are not treated with rest and antibiotics, clots can form within them and interfere with the blood circulation. The art of freezing and preserving foods in home freezers, should be studied carefully to avoid contamination by bacteria.

GOP Ombudsman Helps Solons Keep In Touch

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House, trying to cool its sometimes hot and jangled circuits to Capitol Hill, has set up an ombudsman operation to hear Republican Congress members' complaints and make them feel wanted.

"This makes it plain to them we're trying to be accessible," says the ombudsman, Bryce Harlow, President Nixon's chief liaison man with Congress. The ombudsman operation—an idea imported from Europe—usually is intended to help the average citizens who have trouble with government.

In this case it is to help Capitol Hill Republicans who have fussed that they are having problems getting in touch with the executive officials. Millions of grunion, the tasty fish that spawn in the beach sand of Southern California in early summer, seem to understand sea tides. They wiggle onto the wet beach just after the once-a-month high tide so that their eggs will have time to develop in the sand while safely out of reach of the sea.

Nixon's Option In Vietnam

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

If a sellout in Vietnam were in prospect, as some people hope and other people fear, would President Nixon be combining his trip to Asia with an appearance at the moon voyage splashdown? Obviously, the President is gambling that nothing will go wrong with the moon landing. He could hardly be thinking of linking the hoped-for proof of America's ability to carry through the most ticklish of space conquests with anything as abject as craven, as a confession to the South Vietnamese, the Thais, the Indonesians and the Philippines that we were contemplating a Southeast Asian bug-out.

The probability is that Nixon, who knows something about the fitness of things, will be asked many more questions than he is prepared to answer during his tour of the East. His position at home, with the more ferocious of the doves threatening to pin the label of "Nixon's war" on him, forces him to talk hopefully of beating Clark Clifford's suggested schedule for withdrawing a hundred thousand troops from South Vietnam within the year. But if Ho Chi Minh refuses to accommodate him with a compromise at Paris that could be presented as honorable, the President can scarcely afford to settle the Vietnamese issue with surrender. The French could get out of Algeria and the British could decamp from the Middle East with relative impunity, for the world balance no longer swings on what any nation in western Europe chooses to do outside its own continent. But if the U.S. shuts up shop and goes home, the world balance automatically swings to the Communists.

A bug-out in Vietnam would set the stage in the U.S. for a rapid growth of the most sinister sort of stab-in-the-back legend. The victims would begin with McNamara's Whiz Kids (for "computerizing" us into impotence with their theories of "graduated" warfare that telegraphed all our punches to the enemy).

You're Telling Me

By William Ritt
Central Press Writer

As July nears its end we hasten to say we think it one of the greatest on the calendar — for during it nine nations celebrate their independence, including you know who.

New "gold rush" hits Nome, Alaska, as children find many coins under wooden sidewalks now being removed. There's always pick-it-dirty involved in a strike.

Two Midwest school children were charged with stealing 92 cents in change from their teacher's desk. More cents than sense!

After watching and reading about the investiture of Britain's Crown Prince Charles the man at the next desk says he, too, has a prince of wails at home and he would like to crown him, too.

The Royal Canadian Mounted Police retires its last dog team. The pooches were dog-tired, no doubt.

Moths eat clean woolen goods but will attack a stained or spotted section first — nature item. Hey, Buster! Watch those gray spots!

American, British, German and French scientists independently and at about the same time developed successful pulse radar systems during the years 1935-1940. Four (?) hearts that beat as one?

Ho Chi Minh) and go on to the political leaders, who would be accused of forcing our generals to fight with "one hand tied behind our back."

The Vietnamese War veterans' Rubicon might not take the form of a march in Washington, but it would surely be felt at the polls in the 1972 election. Veteran would be arrayed against SDS'er and beatnik (as has already been foreshadowed by the Connecticut marine officer Medal of Honor winner, Captain Harvey Barnum, who recently threatened to smash anyone's teeth in if the labors of his buddies in Vietnam are criticized).

Nixon, a profoundly political animal, will almost certainly refuse to be the first U.S. President ever to admit losing a war. But just as certainly he cannot go on living with the present situation. He must either obtain some honorable settlement at Paris by the time of the 1970 elections, or he must demonstrate fairly soon that he has the whole thing in Vietnam well in hand.

If the Paris talks continue to frustrate him, Nixon has an option suggested by the Britisher, Sir Robert Thompson, and some British veterans of the Malaysian War at a London seminar last winter. British observers, along with Herman Kahn of our own Hudson Institute, have long been dumbfounded by the fact that the Americans have fought for five years in Vietnam without even encouraging the creation of a South Vietnamese rural police, force to take over in the countryside. The Viet Cong has never managed to do much inside the cities, for these are well policed. But the countryside has been left wide open, especially at night, to the Viet Cong, who move as they please in and around and between any villages that are not held by our military force.

The British finally pacified Malaysia by training a constabulary of fifty thousand in the arts of sniffing out and clamping down on Communist guerrillas. It stands to reason that a hundred thousand skilled South Vietnamese rural police, willing to patrol the villages and the space between them, would do wonders to back up an Asian army that could still count on U.S. air and logistical support. With an able constabulary at work in South Vietnam, Nixon could afford to cap Clark Clifford's figure for withdrawals. He could take out 150,000 U.S. soldiers, not all of them front-line combat men, in time for the 1970 Congressional elections. This would not be final victory, but, coupled with a statement to the college and high school generations that all post-1970 military replacements in South Vietnam would be on a volunteer basis, it would serve. We could then get the war back on the track without the escalation that everybody fears, and we might even have some money left over to take care of our city jungles at home.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Where Should Sex Be Taught?

DEAR ABBY: Do you think children—from kindergarten on—should get their sex education in the schools? If not, why not? And if so, why?

CONCERNED PARENT
DEAR CONCERNED: Ideally children should be taught all they need to know about sex AT HOME, from intelligent parents who themselves have healthy, wholesome attitudes about sex as well as high moral standards. But unfortunately (if my mail can be believed) the child who has had his sex education from such parents is as rare as hen's teeth.

Parents today (thru no fault of their own) are victims of parents of yesterday who equated sex with "sin" and were too embarrassed and ill-informed to tell their children the facts of life. Consequently most children received their sex education from each other, and in the alley.

So I believe it is preferable for children to learn the facts of life from informed, responsible educators, of whom they can ask straight question — and get straight answers rather than in the alley.

And may I add, parents need not fear that their children will "get into trouble" because they know too much.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 19-year-old girl who last year came from Stockholm to work for a family I will call "The Smiths." Mostly I have been looking after their children.

A few days ago Mrs. Smith received sudden word that her mother who lives in a neighboring state is seriously ill, so she went to be with her mother.

Last evening Mr. Smith engaged a sitter for the children and invited me to go to a movie with him.

Now he tells me that he has engaged the sitter again for Saturday, and he is taking me dancing! Abby, I do not care to go dancing with this old man (he must be 40) and besides I have a steady boyfriend who is very angry already about my going to the movies with Mr. Smith.

Altho Mr. Smith had done nothing improper, I do not wish to go out with him, neither do I wish to offend him. Can you advise me

Respectfully, FROM SWEDEN
DEAR FROM: Thank Mr. Smith for his kind invitation, and tell him your boyfriend objects, so you must decline. That should settle it.

DEAR ABBY: Before my husband goes to bed he likes to fix himself a "snack" which usually consists of pickles, salami, and other things loaded with garlic and onions. Then he climbs into bed and gets amorous! I love this guy, but I can't stand him near me with THAT on his breath.

Don't tell me to "join" him and eat pickles and salami. My stomach won't tolerate it. And don't recommend toothpastes and mouth washes. He claims he used them, and I can tell you, if he has, they don't help. What do YOU recommend?

DEAR EDITH: A clothespin for your nose.

Ohio Joins Suit

Against Government

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Atty. Gen. Paul W. Brown has joined New Mexico in a suit to prevent federal intrusion in state wildlife management programs.

New Mexico's game commission is asking the U.S. Supreme Court to reject a lower court decision which allows the federal government to kill resident species of wildlife as part of an ecological study.

"This becomes a question of protection of state's rights," said Brown. "We are joining in the suit because of the possibility of encroachment on Ohio's game programs by the federal government."

Nixon Talks With Mamie And LBJ

WASHINGTON (AP) — After a super long distance call to tell America's men on the moon "how proud we all are," President Nixon phoned Mamie Eisenhower and former President Lyndon B. Johnson to share his jubilation with them.

"This certainly has to be the most historic telephone call ever made from the White House," Nixon told astronauts Neil Armstrong and Edwin E. "Buzz" Aldrin Jr.

Millions of television viewers saw Sunday night's telephone conversation through a split picture showing both the President and astronauts.

"For one priceless moment in the whole history of man all of the people on this earth are truly one," Nixon said during his brief message congratulating the astronauts.

After talking with the astronauts, Nixon called Mrs. Eisenhower at the nearby White House mansion where she is visiting. He disclosed that the widow of the late President Dwight D. Eisenhower had commented earlier that "somebody up there is looking at them too"—referring to the late Gen. Eisenhower.

Nixon telephoned Johnson at his Texas home.

White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler told reporters the President informed Johnson that "I thought we ought to share this great moment."

Johnson told Nixon, Ziegler said, he had been following the Apollo 11 activities all day and appreciated Nixon's call at the historic moment.

NASA's Photos Of Moon Work Much Clearer

BARSTOW, Calif. (AP) — Like photographers around the world, U.S. space agency took photographs of man's first steps on the moon off a television screen.

But the National Aeronautics and Space Administration pictures were much clearer. They were taken off a special monitor at the Apollo tracking station at the Goldstone Communications Complex 50 miles north of here while the transmission was being converted for relay over commercial television.

The spokesman said NASA used a still camera whose shutter was synchronized to the scan rate of a special monitor screen. Home television was less clear because conversion to its faster scan rate leaves small white bars between the picture lines.

Solo Sailor Comes Ashore After 6 Months On Ocean

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — John Fairfax planned for 17 years to be the first man to row the Atlantic. But when he set out to do it in three months, he admits, "I didn't know what I was talking about."

Almost to the day, it took him twice that long to row the 4,000 miles from his starting point, the Canary Islands.

"But I wanted to do it and I did it," said the 32-year-old Briton, "and I feel bloody happy about it."

His long hair bleached by the sun and his eyes bloodshot from the glare of the sea, the grinning London bachelor stroked ashore at 1:56 p.m. EDT Saturday to be congratulated by scores of sunbathers at Hollywood Beach.

One of the first to speak to him, a pale-skinned man in trunks, said: "You're a damn fool, you know."

But Fairfax described himself as a romanticist and said he finally accomplished something he had planned to do since he was a schoolboy of 12.

"I think it is a bit symbolic that I arrived in America, which is a son of England, you know, a rather large son," he said. "And I did it about the same time as you Americans were reaching for the moon."

Guided only by sextant and compass, Fairfax landed only 12 miles north of his planned destination of Miami. Swift currents of the Gulf Stream propelled him 110 miles north during the last 48 hours of his voyage, he said.

ABA Refuses Douglas Rule

WASHINGTON (AP) — The controversy over Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas' past pay from a Las Vegas-linked foundation is expected to fade out with the American Bar Association's refusal to rule on the issue.

The ABA's ethics committee, in a secret weekend meeting at St. Charles, Ill., said it did not have enough facts to reach a decision on Douglas.

But it stressed again that all judges should avoid any outside financial activities that might interfere with their court duties.

Douglas stepped down in May as the $12,000-a-year president of the Parvin Foundation, which had large stock holdings in a firm which owns three Las Vegas hotels and gambling casinos.

Douglas' action came only a week after Justice Abe Fortas resigned from the Supreme Court under fire because of a $20,000 check from the family foundation of financier Louis E. Wolfson.

"It's hard work," Mrs. Armstrong said. "I just finished the books of his Gemini 8 flight (in March 1966) earlier this year."

Nixon Talks With Mamie And LBJ

WASHINGTON (AP) — After a super long distance call to tell America's men on the moon "how proud we all are," President Nixon phoned Mamie Eisenhower and former President Lyndon B. Johnson to share his jubilation with them.

"This certainly has to be the most historic telephone call ever made from the White House," Nixon told astronauts Neil Armstrong and Edwin E. "Buzz" Aldrin Jr.

Millions of television viewers saw Sunday night's telephone conversation through a split picture showing both the President and astronauts.

"For one priceless moment in the whole history of man all of the people on this earth are truly one," Nixon said during his brief message congratulating the astronauts.

After talking with the astronauts, Nixon called Mrs. Eisenhower at the nearby White House mansion where she is visiting. He disclosed that the widow of the late President Dwight D. Eisenhower had commented earlier that "somebody up there is looking at them too"—referring to the late Gen. Eisenhower.

Nixon telephoned Johnson at his Texas home.

White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler told reporters the President informed Johnson that "I thought we ought to share this great moment."

Johnson told Nixon, Ziegler said, he had been following the Apollo 11 activities all day and appreciated Nixon's call at the historic moment.

Youngstown All Quiet; Guard Out

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—Youngstown went into the early morning hours Monday with police reporting all quiet after National Guardsmen called up Thursday to handle racial violence were dismissed Sunday.

Saturday night also passed without incident, leading to the dismissal of the 150 troops. Thursday and Friday nights were also relatively calm.

Violence in the city had begun in the East Side Tuesday night after some 100 Negro youths gathered in an East Side dairy store to support a black woman's complaint that she had been kicked by the store owner. The owner had accused the woman of shoplifting.

The violence spread to the Hillman Street area later Tuesday night and again Wednesday night, leaving nine persons injured, three structures set afire, and several other attempted firebombings.

Police said no special measures were in effect Sunday night in the South Side, but the force was continuing to operate without days off. A 9 p.m. to 5 a.m. curfew enforced Thursday and Friday in the Hillman Street area was lifted Saturday night, and a 72-hour city ban on sale of intoxicating beverages expired Sunday.

Four persons, including two firemen and a policeman, were injured Tuesday night as the dairy store and a drug store were firebombed and two other stores had windows broken.

Some 30 persons were arrested during the course of the disturbances, most for curfew violations.

Views on Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — In television's greatest spectacular, astronauts Neil A. Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. hopped about the surface of the moon, set up an American flag and snapped each other's pictures like two tourists.

As much of the world watched, Armstrong stepped from the Eagle to the lunar surface Sunday night and said, "That's one small step for man, a giant leap for mankind."

The first live television pictures from another celestial body were as marvelous as the achievement of Apollo 11. It was all the Saturday matinees of Buck Rogers and Flash Gordon. But this was for real.

The brilliant sun and the deep shadows made for a contrasting image and the slow-scan black-and-white camera caused the picture to blur during movement. Still, there was no detracting from their awesome impact.

The pictures were so good that it was possible to see the powdery dust kicked up as Aldrin bounded over the surface and to pick out his footprints.

NBC estimated that 125 million Americans stayed up for the greatest late late show ever, and that 123 million saw the ghostly image of Armstrong's first step to the lunar surface.

ABC, which is handling the international pool coverage, estimates that possibly as many as 500 million people in North and South America, Europe, Asia and Australia and parts of Africa saw the moonwalk. Apparently only the Soviet Union and Communist China did not broadcast the transmission.

On the lunar surface, Armstrong and Aldrin enjoyed themselves like two kids in a new sandbox.

Aldrin did a trampoline act on the ladder. Armstrong did a dancing sidestep. Both hopped about as they tried out their lunar legs on the low-gravity moon. Then they set about the serious business of erecting equipment and gathering lunar samples.

On a split screen, President Nixon sent his good wishes to the astronauts and said he hoped their achievement would promote peace and tranquility.

Even the cool words from the astronauts as they guided the craft down could not ease the tension until Armstrong announced: "Houston ... Tranquility base here. The Eagle has landed."

It was a long, satisfying display of man's ingenuity and determination and the spirit of the intrepid astronauts.

Astronaut's Money Went For Aviation

WAPAKONETA, Ohio (AP)—Neil Armstrong—the first man on the moon—worked as a boy in a bakery, a cemetery, a hardware and a drug store. "He always had a goal for his money," said Neil's mother, Viola Armstrong. "It usually went for flying magazines or model airplanes. Later he used the money for flying lessons."

You don't have to be a museum enthusiast to enjoy this tour along and south of the Lake Erie shore west of Cleveland, but it will help.

Four museums, each distinctive in appeal, are spaced along the way, with other worthy attractions such as the birthplace of Thomas Edison, a state park and even a "country store."

At Vermillion, the Great Lakes Museum has a fine collection of Great Lakes ship models, paintings, photos and other marine artifacts and relics, including ships' bells, telegraph and even a gyrocompass. Hours are 10:30 to 9. Admission, 50 cents; ages 6-13, 25 cents.

On the Oberlin College campus is the Allen Art Building, which houses representative displays of sculpture, paintings and decorative arts from the early Egyptians to the modern. Summer hours are 10-12 and 2-4, Monday through Friday, 2-5 and 7-9 Saturday and 2-6 Sunday.

Firelands Museum at Norwalk has outstanding collections of antique guns, pioneer farm and household implements, early lighting fixtures and old fashioned costumes, as well as Indian relics and natural history exhibits. Summer hours are 9-6. Admission 50 cents; children under 12, free with adults.

Milan is the location of the Milan Museum, as well as Edison's birthplace, now a designated historic landmark. The museum has a collection of dolls, glass, china and guns, while to the rear are a general store, post office and blacksmith shop. Summer hours are 10-5, except Monday. Contributions accepted.

Edison's birthplace is a well preserved three-story home where many family objects and mementoes can be seen. It is open 9 - 5 Tuesday through Saturday, 1-5 Sunday.

Milan is reminiscent of a small New England town. Between August 30 and September 1, it hosts the Melon Festival, which this year also features judging for the queen of Ohio's many festivals.

If time permits, stop at the country store, at Henrietta, where the unusual in food and hard goods is commonplace. It is open 10 to 6 daily, until 9 on Wednesday and Sunday 10-2. And, if a picnic is on the schedule, try Findley State Park, also excellent for fishing, swimming, boating and camping.

AAA suggests this route to the tour area. From Circleville, go north on US 23 to Jct. with I-270; west on I-270 to Jct. with I-71; north on I-71 to Jct. with I-270 again; west on I-270 to Jct. with US 23; north on US 23 to Jct. with Ohio Route 98 in Waldo; northeast on Ohio Route 98 to Bucyrus and Jct. with Ohio Route 4; Ohio Route 4 to Jct. with Ohio Route 18; east on Ohio Route 18 to Norwalk and the tour area.

Youngstown
All Quiet;
Guard Out

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—Youngstown went into the early morning hours Monday with police reporting all quiet after National Guardsmen called up Thursday to handle racial violence were dismissed Sunday.

Saturday night also passed without incident, leading to the dismissal of the 150 troops. Thursday and Friday nights were also relatively calm.

Violence in the city had begun in the East Side Tuesday night after some 100 Negro youths gathered in an East Side dairy store to support a black woman's complaint that she had been kicked by the store owner. The owner had accused the woman of shoplifting.

The violence spread to the Hillman Street area later Tuesday night and again Wednesday night, leaving nine persons injured, three structures set afire, and several other attempted firebombings.

Police said no special measures were in effect Sunday night in the South Side, but the force was continuing to operate without days off. A 9 p.m. to 5 a.m. curfew enforced Thursday and Friday in the Hillman Street area was lifted Saturday night, and a 72-hour city ban on sale of intoxicating beverages expired Sunday.

Four persons, including two firemen and a policeman, were injured Tuesday night as the dairy store and a drug store were firebombed and two other stores had windows broken.

Some 30 persons were arrested during the course of the disturbances, most for curfew violations.

Views on Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — In television's greatest spectacular, astronauts Neil A. Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. hopped about the surface of the moon, set up an American flag and snapped each other's pictures like two tourists.

As much of the world watched, Armstrong stepped from the Eagle to the lunar surface Sunday night and said, "That's one small step for man, a giant leap for mankind."

The first live television pictures from another celestial body were as marvelous as the achievement of Apollo 11. It was all the Saturday matinee of Buck Rogers and Flash Gordon. But this was for real.

The brilliant sun and the deep shadows made for a contrasting image and the slow-scan black-and-white camera caused the picture to blur during movement. Still, there was no detracting from their awesome impact.

The pictures were so good that it was possible to see the powdery dust kicked up as Aldrin bounded over the surface and to pick out his footprints.

NBC estimated that 125 million Americans stayed up for the greatest late show ever, and that 123 million saw the ghostly image of Armstrong's first step to the lunar surface.

ABC, which is handling the international pool coverage, estimates that possibly as many as 500 million people in North and South America, Europe, Asia and Australia and parts of Africa saw the moonwalk. Apparently only the Soviet Union and Communist China did not broadcast the transmission.

On the lunar surface, Armstrong and Aldrin enjoyed themselves like two kids in a new sandbox.

Aldrin did a trampoline act on the ladder. Armstrong did a dancing sidestep. Both hopped about as they tried out their lunar legs on the low-gravity moon. Then they set about the serious business of erecting equipment and gathering lunar samples.

On a split screen, President Nixon sent his good wishes to the astronauts and said he hoped their achievement would promote peace and tranquility.

Even the cool words from the astronauts as they guided the craft down could not ease the tension until Armstrong announced: "Houston ... Tranquility base here. The Eagle has landed."

It was a long, satisfying display of man's ingenuity and determination and the spirit of the intrepid astronauts.

Astronaut's Money
Went For Aviation

WAPAKONETA, Ohio (AP)—Neil Armstrong—the first man on the moon—worked as a boy in a bakery, a cemetery, a hardware and a drug store. "He always had a goal for his money," said Neil's mother, Viola Armstrong. "It usually went for flying magazines or model airplanes. Later he used the money for flying lessons."

Astronauts Leave Expensive Junkpile Behind On Moon

By PAUL RECER
AP Aerospace Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Two Apollo 11 astronauts leave behind one of the most expensive junk yards in the universe when they lift off from the moon today.

They discarded almost $1 million worth of cameras, tools and breathing equipment up there.

The cameras included the black and white television camera that captured their moon walk for the world. This camera cost the National Aeronautics and Space Administration $250,000.

Also in the litter—a Kodak worth $50,000 and a Hasselblad camera that cost $11,176.

After returning to the moon lander's cabin, the astronauts opened the hatch and dumped the back packs which kept them alive during their walk.

Each of these units, called the Portable Life Support System, cost NASA $300,000.

Moon tools designed especially for the astronauts added to the junk pile.

Tongs, a scoop, a long-handled hammer, an extension handle and other items were dropped when the spacemen were through with them. These tools cost $45,000.

Largest item to be left was the descent stage of the lunar module. NASA is reluctant to put a cost on this two-ton piece of metal since it's only part of a lunar module that cost $41 million.

Ever if the spacecraft stage hadn't been left on the moon, it could never have returned to earth; it has no heat shield.

An American flag was left on the moon. The space agency doesn't know how much it cost and doesn't want to.

NASA bought a large number of flags from different manufacturers, a spokesman said, and then removed all labels. One was selected at random.

"We've no idea which one is up there," said the spokesman. "This was so no company could make a big thing of their flag being on the moon."

A silicone wafer bearing electronically-reduced messages of goodwill from 78 countries cost NASA nothing. A private firm produced it at no cost to the government.

A plaque bearing the autographs of the astronauts and of President Nixon couldn't be priced. It was made in the metal shop at NASA of materials already at hand.

How The Weather Looks

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Official Weather Bureau summary for Ohio:

Showers and thundershowers occurred throughout most of Ohio Sunday and rains were locally heavy in Dayton, Columbus, Cleveland, Cincinnati and Zanesville. All reported more than an inch of rain.

Activity diminished during the evening and night and by late Sunday night only a few showers were reported in the vicinity of the Ohio River.

Light winds along with the moist air and ground combined to produce considerable fog over the state this morning.

Early today temperatures were in the upper 60s and low 70s. By this afternoon readings are expected to reach the 80s except to the upper 70s close to Lake Erie.

A high pressure system north of Lake Superior has been moving slowly eastward. By Tuesday it will push a little drier air into Ohio, keeping the chances of showers low.

Lows tonight will range from 60-70 degrees while highs Tuesday are expected in the 80s.

FORECASTS

OHIO — Partly cloudy tonight and Tuesday with little change in temperatures. Lows tonight 60-70.

NORTHWEST & NORTHEAST OHIO — Fair tonight and Tuesday with little change in temperatures. Lows tonight in the 60s. Highs Tuesday from the middle 70s to the lower 80s.

CENTRAL & EAST CENTRAL OHIO — Becoming partly cloudy this afternoon and generally fair tonight and Tuesday. Highs Tuesday 80-85. Lows tonight in the 60s.

SOUTHWEST & SOUTHEAST OHIO — Becoming partly cloudy this afternoon with a chance of a thundershower mainly near the Ohio River. Partly cloudy tonight and Tuesday with little change in temperatures. Lows tonight in the middle or upper 60s. Highs Tuesday in 80s.

OHIO FIVE-DAY FORECAST

Temperatures will average near normal Tuesday through Saturday. Daily highs generally will range from the mid 80s north and central to the upper 80s south. Nighttime lows will be mostly in the 60s. Warm beginning of period followed by cooler weather by midweek and then a change to warmer during the weekend. Precipitation will total about .5 to one inch as showers and thundershowers about Wednesday and Thursday.

Former Judge Reynolds Dies

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Retired Common Pleas Court Judge Dana F. Reynolds died at his home here Sunday after a long illness. He was 85.

Reynolds, who spent 41 years on the bench, was an outspoken critic of recent U.S. Supreme Court decisions which he said allowed the guilty to gain freedom.

Funeral services will be conducted Wednesday at the Broad Street Presbyterian Church.

James Forman Makes Appeal For Fred Evans

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Black Manifesto author James Forman Sunday made an appeal for support to save convicted Cleveland Black Nationalist leader Fred "Ahmed" Evans from execution.

Appearing at the First Baptist Church of suburban Shaker Heights, Forman said, "There must be committed people in this room who have the power and the connection to see that Ahmed is not killed."

Evans was convicted earlier this year on seven counts of first-degree murder stemming from racial violence in Cleveland's Glenview area last July 23.

About 60 white youths who said they were "supporters of Evans and the Black Manifesto," stood in the church during the service but caused no disruption. They gave the clenched fist Black Power salute as Forman entered with 30 followers and chanted "Ahmed Evans must live" as the congregation of 800 left the church.

Rumsfeld Plans Changes In OEO

WASHINGTON (AP) — Donald Rumsfeld, youthful head of the federal antipoverty agency, denies persistent speculation that he's out to dismantle the Office of Economic Opportunity, but there's no doubt by the time he's through the OEO will look different than it did under the Johnson administration.

Rumsfeld, the 36-year-old former Illinois congressman who has been director of the OEO only three months, tells interviewers that he has yet to come to any conclusions about the agency.

Rumsfeld has spent most of his time reviewing five years of congressional hearings on the OEO, the Economic Opportunity Act and a folder that details the antipoverty agency's guidelines, strategy and programs.

He also has sought what he calls "top people who have the competence and feeling for the programs" to fill the top slots in the agency.

Rumsfeld has formed task forces from inside and outside the OEO in an attempt to get new ideas about the structure of the agency, its goals, an evaluation of its past performance and its research.

Rumsfeld emphasizes that he has not made any major decision that would change the course of the OEO since he took office although some actions have been taken.

He persuaded Nixon to ask Congress to give the OEO a two-year lease on life, won it a broad role in the battle against hunger, expanded its expertise in welfare and income maintenance and discouraged moves to shift complete authority for all federal manpower programs to the Labor Department.

In listening to him discuss the OEO, however, one gets the distinct impression that he plans changes that will limit the scope of the agency.

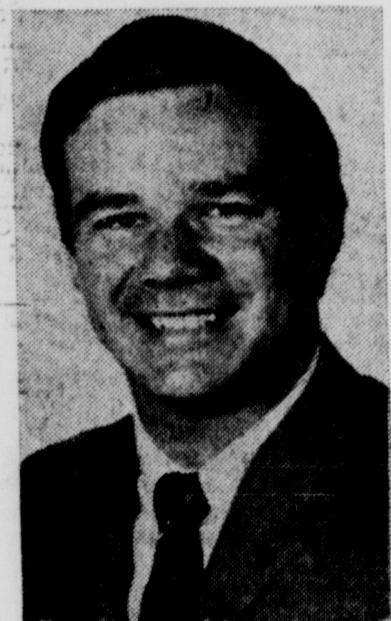

Without wanting to draw conclusions, he talked about the Economic Act of 1964 that established the antipoverty agency.

"If you look at the statute and its scope of responsibility," Rumsfeld said, "You find that it was asking an awful lot of the office to expect that it could perform 100 per cent in the types and variety of responsibility."

"A critic could easily say it fell short. And part of the criticism comes from its charter."

The act charged the OEO with two distinct responsibilities: —Planning, coordinating and mobilizing antipoverty efforts. —Operating several programs established under the act, including Job Corps, Community Action Program, migrant and seasonal labor programs and Volunteers in Service to America, the domestic Peace Corps.

Giants Defeat L.A. Dodgers, 7-3

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
The way Gaylord Perry swings a bat, he stands as much chance of hitting a home run as ... oh ... as a man does of walking on the moon.

Well, Perry and astronauts Neil Armstrong and Edwin Aldrin made it together Sunday. The San Francisco right-hander tagged his first career homer and pitched the Giants to a 7-3 victory over Los Angeles, tightening up the National League's West Division race while the astronauts took a moon stroll that tightened up the universe.

Perry's third inning homer was the first hit off Claude Osteen and so shook the Dodger pitcher that he walked Bobby Bonds. Bonds stole second and then scored as Osteen, still trying to regain his composure, threw into center field on an attempted pickoff.

Later, Willie McCovey hammered his 30th homer and Willie Mays tagged a single and double, running his career hit total to 2,885 and moving past Zach Wheat and into 16th place on the all-time list.

Elsewhere in the National League Sunday, Atlanta battered San Diego 10-0, Chicago took a doubleheader from Philadelphia 1-0 and 6-1 and Montreal split with New York, winning 5-2 before losing 4-3. Houston at Cincinnati and St. Louis at Pittsburgh were postponed by rain.

Perry's homer was his seventh base hit this season and raised his batting average to .109. Actually, Gaylord has been in a bit of a slump this season. He batted .113 last year, .143 in 1967 and had a career high of .186 in 1966. Then the numbers dip again to .156 in 1965 and a disastrous .054 in 1964.
The victory left the third place Giants just one game back of first place Atlanta and three percentage points short of the runnerup Dodgers in the West.

The Braves took over the division lead by thumping San Diego as Pat Jarvis coasted on a six-hitter.
Orlando Cepeda rapped a three-run homer for Atlanta.
Ferguson Jenkins bested Grant Jackson in a first game pitcher's duel as the Cubs nipped the Phillies. Jackson allowed just two hits and struck out 12 in eight innings but yielded the game's only run in the third inning when Don Young walked, moved to second on Jenkins' sacrifice and scored on Don Kessinger's infield single.
Jenkins scattered seven hits and picked up his 13th victory in 20 decisions.
The Cubs completed the sweep with Dick Selma hurling a four-hitter in the second game. Ron Santo rapped three hits including a two-run homer his 20th of the season, to lead the Chicago attack.
Gary Waslewski pitched a five-hitter and Montreal bunched home runs by Mack Jones, Bob Bailey and Bobby Wine in the fourth inning to beat the Mets in their first game.
Then Bobby Pfeil's squeezed bunt scored Ron Swoboda in the 10th inning as New York gained the split in the nightcap. Swoboda had doubled and reached third on Adolfo Phillips' error.

O. J. SIMPSON (Buffalo Bills) RON JOHNSON (Cleveland Browns) LEROY KEYES (Philadelphia Eagles)

STILL UNSIGNED—Three of last year's top collegiate football players remain still unsigned by the professional teams which picked them. Southern California's O. J. Simpson remains unsigned by the Buffalo Bills, Michigan's Ron Johnson has not come to agreement with the Cleveland Browns. Purdue's Leroy Keyes and Philadelphia Eagles are at odds.

3 Course Records Are Set In SCCA Championship Tilt

By TOM GARDNER
Associated Press Writer
MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Automotive aerobatics highlighted the early events in Sunday's Sports Car Club of America National Championship races at a rain-soaked Mid-Ohio Sports Car Course south-west of here.

But the all-night rain stopped late in the morning and by afternoon the course was dry, allowing some fast races. Three course records were set in the late afternoon sprints.

Although several cars spun out—some two and three times—in the early races, most charged back on the twisting 2.4-mile road course to complete the 20-lap races. There were no serious accidents and no injuries.

One of the most exciting races Sunday saw popular Dick Lang of Xenia speed through heavy traffic from his 20th place start to take second before a spinout placed him again far back in the field.
To the surprise of track observers, he pushed his outmoded Genie back into contention for second place among the A Sports Racers before another spinout forced him to settle for third.
"With all the time I spent in the infield, I should have been racing on mud tires," Lang quipped.

Mechanical problems took their toll of other favorites.
Bill Weir of Cleveland Heights was running just behind the leader in the C Production race when he lost his left rear wheel with five laps to go. Before bowing out, however, Weir set a record lap average of 77.56 miles per hour—about a quarter of a mile per hour above the old standard.
Car trouble also sidelined teammates Bill Koch of Columbus and Dan O'Connor of Bellefontaine, both racing MG Midgets. Koch holds the Mid-Ohio record for F Production cars.
Other records fell in the D Production class with Jim Fitzgerald of Clemmons, Mich., turning a lap in an average speed of 77.84 m.p.h. — about one-half mile per hour above the previous record—and in D Sedans, Craig Fisher of Toronto, Ontario, shaved nearly two miles per hour off the old mark, averaging 72.24 m.p.h. in his Fiat Abarth.

The fourth record came in Saturday's only race. It was the first Mid-Ohio showing for the new Formula F cars and the record lap was set by Jim Clarke of Garden City, Mich., who turned an 81.97 m.p.h. in his Lotus Ford.
A Mid-Ohio record 254 cars qualified for the races. The drivers competed only for national points and trophies. There are no cash prizes at SCCA Nationals. Cars representing 20 classes competed in nine 20-lap races.

Dave Hill Wins $30,000 Prize In Golf Clash

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Dave Hill had just taken the $30,000 first prize in the Philadelphia Golf Classic but said he really hadn't won it, really didn't want to and really didn't much care.

"This tournament was more lost than won," the slim perfectionist said. "Tommy Jacobs and Grier Jones lost it. I didn't win no golf tournament. They lost it."

"It's a shame for Tommy to lose. He played four shots better than I did. My sympathies were with him. I wanted him to win it. And I didn't want to win with the score I had."

Hill, 32, a pro since 1959, beat Jacobs, R. H. Sikes and Gay Brewer in a four-way playoff on the first extra hole Sunday. His 11-foot birdie putt clinched his third victory of the season.

And it was his third triumph in his last four starts, put him in the top spot on the money winning list at $129,333 and clinched him a spot on the Ryder Cup team.
Hill shot a final-round 69, three under par on the 6,670-yard Whitemarsh Country Club course, and was tied after 72 holes at 279 with Jacobs, Sikes and Brewer.
Jacobs, who shared the third-round lead and is on a comeback from three bad years that almost forced him off the tour, had a 72, Brewer a 66, including an eagle on the 17th hole, and Sikes a 67.
Frank Beard had a 66 and was alone at 280. Tied at 281 were Jones, who shared the third-round lead with Jacobs and finished with a 74; Mac McLendon, 68; Bruce Devlin, 65; Lou Graham, 70, and Deane Beman, 70.
Arnold Palmer had a 71 for 286 and was tied at that figure with Billy Casper, 68. Lee Trevino had a 69 for 285.

And it was his third triumph in his last four starts, put him in the top spot on the money winning list at $129,333 and clinched him a spot on the Ryder Cup team.

Hap's Defeats FOPA, 19-6

Hap's defeated FOPA Saturday night in the only Mosquito League action, 19-6, for their first win of the season.

Hap's is now 1-3 for the season while FOPA has a 3-4 mark.
FOPA took the lead in the tilt 1-0 at the end of the first inning. Hap's tallied six in the second, four in the third, six in the fourth and three in the fifth. The Fraternal Order of Police scored three in the second and two in the fourth. Hap's had six hits while the losers rapped four.
Jeff Strawser and Doug Young were the winning pitchers for Hap's while Paul Brown, Kevin Woltz, and John Dean hurled for the police.

Liam Rooney banged two doubles for the winners and Jeff Strawser hit one. Pat Poorman's double was the only extra base hit for FOPA.
Hap's tangles with Hill implement Thursday while FOPA is idle this week.

Andretti Captures Trenton 200 Auto Race Saturday

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — Indianapolis 500 winner Mario Andretti racked up his fifth win of the auto racing season over the weekend by edging Wally Dallenbach by 6 1/2 seconds in the Trenton 200 Saturday. Andretti finished the race with one gallon of fuel left in his car.
Andretti raced around the 1 1/2-mile Trenton Speedway track in his rear-engine turbo-charged Ford at an average speed of 139.991 miles per hour.
Andretti, who races out of Nazareth, Pa., won over $13,000.
Mike Mosley of West Covina, Calif., placed third in the race which saw half the starting field of 26 drop out before the finish.
Senior Joe Gavel set a school mark by stealing 21 bases for Michigan State's baseball team this spring.

General Electric Tops Lindsey, 6-3

GE leveled their Babe Ruth record at 4-4 with a 6-3 win over Lindsey's Bakery Friday.
Gary Wertman pitched the win, allowing six hits. He walked four batters and fanned 12.
Doug Spangler took the Lindsey loss, allowing seven hits. He walked six batters and fanned three.
Glen Griebel and Doug Good each hit two singles for the winners.
Wertie Teets and Jack Easter hit doubles for Lindsey.

Father-Son Win Feature At Atomic

A rare father-son driver combination figured prominently in the super-modified feature at Atomic Speedway Saturday night and at the finish it was the father in his first main event victory at the track.
Al Nunmery, a former motorcycle racer from South Point, climaxed his best-ever night at the track by taking the lead at the midway point, four laps after son Tucker Nunmery had surrendered it by spinning out between the first and second turns.

Al was the only duplicate winner of the night in either class by taking the helmet dash for the four fastest cars and also placing third in the fast heat. Tucker started the feature third and Al 14th.

Charles McCann of Piketon, who was the leader between the Nunmerys, finished second and Bob Morgan of Chillicothe, the victor a week earlier, was third.

TUCKER Nunmery captured the first heat, Audie Swartz of Franklin Furnace the fast heat by edging by McCann as the white flag was brought out and Junior Smalley of Waverly the consolation in a thriller. Swartz lost a front end on the seventh lap and trailed the feature.

Avery Conley of Chillicothe became the third hobby stocks double winner of the season in the wreck-slowed finale.
Conley went into the lead to stay on the 11th lap and led Bob Stanhope and George Branscom of Chillicothe across the finish line. Ron Dearing of Jackson led the first half of the race with the help of a yellow flag that nullified Jerry Rucker's move on the eighth lap.

COACH GREEN, NOW—Bespoke Ernie Green, a knee operation having forced him off the playing field, now is a Cleveland Browns coach. Here Ernie is seen in his new role at the Browns' Hiram, Ohio, training camp.

Baseball Races Tighten After Five Weeks Of Play

Circleville Youth Baseball divisions have narrowed down to tight races with three weeks remaining on the schedule.

Circleville Youth Baseball roster.

First National Bank, tagged with their first loss Friday, still maintain control of the Little League minors with an 8-1 record.
Ward's Market, defeated earlier by the Bankers and Thursday by Second National Bank, carried a 7-2 record into the final three-weeks of games.

Blue Ribbon Dairy has a 6-3 record and the Savings Bank, who beat First National in a game Friday, is 6-3.

ROUNDING out the league is Second National Bank at 4-5, Circleville Oil at 3-6, IOOF at 2-7 and Rotary at 0-9.

Three teams are vying for the league lead in the Little League major division.
Currently deadlocked in the top slot are American Legion and BPO Elks with 7-2 marks.

The Elks won three games last week, beating the Legion, Herald and Bingham's, to knot the league.
The Herald Hawks are holding down the third spot in the league still within striking distance at 6-3.

Purina is 3-5, Coca-Cola is 2-7 and Bingham's is 1-7.
MAC's Goodyear is the only undefeated team left on the banked the Pilots 4-0 for a four-game lead in the AL West Division.

Yankees shaded Washington 3-2 in 11 innings.

The St. Louis-Pittsburgh single game and the Houston-Cincinnati doubleheader were rained out.

The two victories, which gave Perry an 11-4 season mark, moved the Twins another length ahead of second place Oakland. The Athletics divided a doubleheader with California, winning 9-6 after a 7-3 first game loss.

Elsewhere, Boston downed Baltimore's East Division leaders 6-5; Kansas City swept a twin bill from the Chicago White Sox 8-6 and 3-2 in 11 innings; Detroit edged Cleveland 3-2 before bowing to the Indians 5-4 in 10 innings and the New York

Perry again stopped the Pilots cold, but Gelnar, 2-7, was tagged for bases-empty homers by George Mitterwald and Cesar Tovar before being lifted in the eighth.

Reds Enter All-Star Game In 4th Place

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds entered the All-Star break today in fourth place in the Western Division and with Manager Dave Bristol's sights set on a strong completion of the season.

Lee May paces the league in homers with 29. He has also knocked in 75 runs and is hitting at a .322 clip.

Pete Rose has built his average to .329 after a slow start and military service early in the year and Tony Perez boasts a .335 average, 22 homers, 70 RBI and 70 runs scored.

"I feel we'll be stronger," Bristol said Sunday after the Reds doubleheader with Houston was rained out. It is to be made up during a five-game series with Houston here late in September.

"If we can keep improving our defense it will be a big help," Bristol continued. "It certainly will help to improve the pitching."

Rose, John Bench, Perez and May were selected for the All-Star squad but Reds pitchers, except for Clay Carroll, stood no chance of being named.

Despite inconsistent hurling which has left the hard-hitting Reds only a few runs ahead of the opposition, the Reds stand 3 1/2 games behind leading Atlanta.

The bright side for the Reds has been hitting as they lead the league in team batting average with a .286 mark.

Carroll, who has been used as a starter recently, has a 12-4 record.

Bobby Tolen, batting .322, has been quite a surprise and has even come through with the long ball — 17 homers, 17 doubles and nine triples accompanied.

Bob Kint fired the win for the Bankers. He allowed seven hits, walked six batters and fanned nine.

Gary Karr was the losing pitcher, allowing only six hits. He was charged with 14 walks, and fanned seven batters.

Expansion Talks Begin At Atomic

Preliminary talking has been started on a planned expansion of Atomic Speedway which may lead to extensive future development.

Eldon Shoemaker, president of the Chillicothe Stock Car Racing Association, has presented a tentative suggestion to the board of directors for the lengthening of the high-banked clay track to 7-16's of a mile prior to the start of next year's racing season.

If the Seattle Pilots had a choice, they'd probably repeal the Saturday night curfew and pass a Blue Law banning Jim Perry on Sundays.

After struggling to a 16-inning standoff against the Pilots Saturday night before an American League curfew rule suspended play, the Minnesota Twins handed Perry a bat and ball Sunday ... and quickly doubled their investment.

Reds Enter All-Star Game In 4th Place

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds entered the All-Star break today in fourth place in the Western Division and with Manager Dave Bristol's sights set on a strong completion of the season.

"I feel we'll be stronger," Bristol said Sunday after the Reds doubleheader with Houston was rained out. It is to be made up during a five-game series with Houston here late in September.

"If we can keep improving our defense it will be a big help," Bristol continued. "It certainly will help to improve the pitching."

Despite inconsistent hurling which has left the hard-hitting Reds only a few runs ahead of the opposition, the Reds stand 3 1/2 games behind leading Atlanta.

The bright side for the Reds has been hitting as they lead the league in team batting average with a .286 mark.

Bobby Tolen, batting .322, has been quite a surprise and has even come through with the long ball -- 17 homers, 17 doubles and nine triples accompanied by 66 runs batted in.

Lee May paces the league in homers with 29. He has also knocked in 75 runs and is hitting at a .322 clip.

Nodouble Wins Brooklyn Handicap

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
He's movin' on—and this time for half fare. That's Nodouble, Gene Goff's traveling cod from Arkansas.

"Our next race if all goes well will be the Whitney at Saratoga on August 2," trainer Bert Sooner said last Saturday after the

4-year-old Arkansas-bred won the $109,000 Brooklyn Handicap at Aqueduct.

The Brooklyn was his third victory in a string of seven six-figure races. He also won the Santa Anita Handicap and the Californian and finished second in the other four.

Sharing the spotlight Saturday with Nodouble were King Ranch's Gallant Bloom, Robbins' and Ressegut's Insubordination and Pelican Stable's Al Hattab.

Gallant Bloom romped to victory in the $54,150 Monmouth Oaks for 3-year-olds fillies at Monmouth Park; Insubordination won the $159,350 Hollywood Juvenile Championship at Hollywood Park, and Al Hattab scored in the $54,800 Patriot Stakes for 3-year-olds at Liberty Bell Park.

Carrying highweight of 127 pounds, seven more than Verbatim and 13 more than Dike, Nodouble covered the 1 1/4 miles in 2:00 2/5 for a winning mutual payoff of $5 and first money of $70,850, which boosted his career earnings to $603,419.

Gallant Bloom made a shambles of the 1 1/4 mile Monmouth Oaks, winning by 12 lengths over Winnett and Ryan's Hail To Patsy. Mr. and Mrs. Sonny Werblin's Process Shot, beaten 1 1/2 lengths, by Gallant Bloom in the Post-Deb Stakes, finished third.

3 Athletes Post Double Track Wins

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP) — Three young athletes each posted double wins Saturday in the Ohio Jaycee Junior Track Championships.

They will lead Ohio qualifiers in the 17-18 age group to the national Jaycee meet in Minneapolis July 31-Aug. 2.

Scott Wallick of Northland won the pole vault, clearing the bar at 14 feet 6 inches and took the 120-yard high hurdles in 14.9 seconds.

Steve Christ of Arcanum captured the high jump with a 6-3 leap and hurled the shot put a winning 52-6.

Leonard Turner of Dayton ran the 100-yard dash in 10 flat and took the triple jump with a measurement of 46-10 1/4.

Double Header With Tigers

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Chuck Hinton's looping fly ball in the 10th inning that fell in for a Jim Northrup and gave the Cleveland Indians a split of their doubleheader with Detroit Sunday was not ruled a hit, but Hinton could care less.

"What difference does it make, anyway?" Hinton asked as the Indians won the nightcap 5-4 after losing the opener to the Tigers, 3-2. "The only difference is whether my average is six points higher or lower when the season ends. The run still counts, doesn't it?"

Hinton's fly was not a hit because Russ Snyder, on second base when Hinton delivered, failed to touch third base as Jose Cardenal scored. Snyder was forced out.

The victory broke a five-game losing streak for the Tribe and a five-game winning streak for the Tigers, who had come back in the seventh and eighth innings of the opener to win.

Willie Horton's 13th home run as he led off the eighth provided the margin of victory for reliever Fred Lasher (1-0) and beat reliever Stan Williams (3-10).

Horton also hit his 14th home run with two men on in the first inning of the nightcap, but said, "The second home run was the hardest hit but I liked the first one better. It won the game for us. That's what counts."

Joe Namath Back

HEMPSTEAD, N.Y. (AP) — Joe Namath was back with the New York Jets today.

The super star quarterback arrived at the Jets training camp at Hofstra University Sunday night and said he would work out for the first time this season today.

For Namath, it ended a brief retirement which he announced June 6 when pro football Commissioner Pete Rozelle ordered him either to sell his interests in an East Side restaurant, Bachelors III, or face suspension from football.

Erich Barnes Late Reporting To Camp

HIRAM, Ohio (AP) — Defensive back Erich Barnes may face a fine when he reports to the Cleveland Browns' training camp at Hiram this week for missing the required reporting time Sunday.

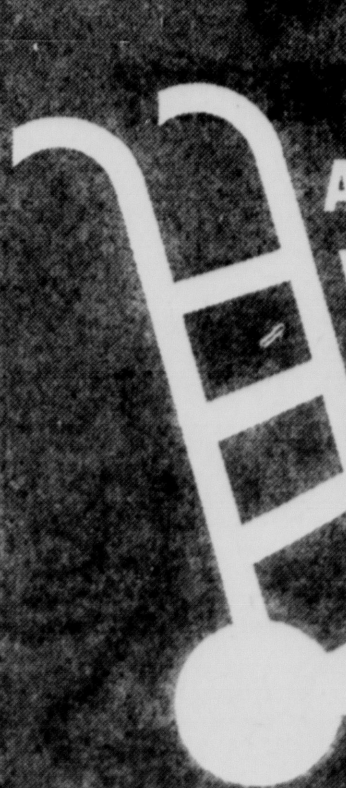

Barnes wired Coach Blanton Collier Sunday that he would not arrive in camp until Wednesday due to last-minute business. There's an automatic $100-a-day fine for missing practice, but Collier said he would wait to talk to Barnes before deciding to impose it.

Carol Mann Tops Carling Players

DANBURY, Conn. (AP) — Articulate and intelligent Carol Mann said her two-stroke victory Sunday in the $20,000 Lady Carling Golf Championship over a charging Kathy Whitworth and steady Sharon Miller was not a physical achievement, but rather an intellectual conquest.

Miss Mann carded a final round 72, even par over the 6,503-yard Ridgewood Country Club layout, and picked up the first prize check of $3,000.

Meanwhile her playing partner, Kathy Whitworth, who passed the quarter-million-dollar mark in tour winnings, launched a strong challenge dropping birdie putts at the last two holes. But she finished two strokes back at 217.

Nodouble Wins Brooklyn Handicap

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
He's movin' on—and this time for half fare. That's Nodouble, Gene Goff's traveling colt from Arkansas.

"Our next race if all goes well will be the Whitney at Saratoga on August 2," trainer Bert Sooner said last Saturday after the

4-year-old Arkansas-bred won the $109,000 Brooklyn Handicap at Aqueduct.

The Brooklyn was his third victory in a string of seven six-figure races. He also won the Santa Anita Handicap and the Californian and finished second in the other four.

Sharing the spotlight Saturday with Nodouble were King Ranch's Gallant Bloom, Robbins' and Ressegue's Insubordination and Pelican Stable's Al Hattab.

Gallant Bloom romped to victory in the $24,150 Monmouth Oaks for 3-year-old fillies at Monmouth Park; Insubordination won the $159,350 Hollywood Juvenile Championship at Hollywood Park, and Al Hattab scored in the $54,800 Patriot Stakes for 3-year-olds at Liberty Bell Park.

Carrying highweight of 127 pounds, seven more than Verbatim and 13 more than Dike, Nodouble covered the 1 1/4 miles in 2:00.25 for a winning mutual payoff of $5 and first money of $70,850, which boosted his career earnings to $603,419.

Gallant Bloom made a shambles of the 1 1/4 mile Monmouth Oaks, winning by 12 lengths over Winnett and Ryan's Hall To Patsy. Mr. and Mrs. Sonny Werblin's Process Shot, beaten 1 1/2 lengths, by Gallant Bloom in the Post-Deb Stakes, finished third.

Dave Pearson Wins

BRISTOL, Tenn. (AP)—Stock ace David Pearson roared to his ninth NASCAR Grand National victory of the season in the Volunter 500, a 250-miler here Sunday and ran his earnings to more than $100,000 for the second year in a row.

Tribe Splits Doubleheader With Tigers

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Chuck Hinton's looping fly ball in the 10th inning that fell in front of Jim Northrup and gave the Cleveland Indians a split of their doubleheader with Detroit Sunday was not ruled a hit, but Hinton could care less.

"What difference does it make, anyway?" Hinton asked as the Indians won the nightcap 5-4 after losing the opener to the Tigers, 3-2. "The only difference is whether my average is six points higher or lower when the season ends. The run still counts, doesn't it?"

Hinton's fly was not a hit because Russ Snyder, on second base when Hinton delivered, failed to touch third base as Jose Cardenal scored. Snyder was forced out.

The victory broke a five-game losing streak for the Tribe and a five-game winning streak for the Tigers, who had come back in the seventh and eighth innings of the opener to win.

Willie Horton's 13th home run as he led off the eighth provided the margin of victory for reliever Fred Lasher (1-0) and beat reliever Stan Williams (3-10).

Horton also hit his 14th home run with two men on in the first inning of the nightcap, but said, "The second home run was the hardest hit but I liked the first one better. It won the game for us. That's what counts."

Lat-Am War Cease-Fire Said Broken

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP) — Honduras charged that El Salvador broke the cease-fire in their undeclared war with the capture Sunday of five more towns or villages.
El Salvador replied with a charge that Honduran troops opened fire with machine guns on President Fidel Sanchez Hernandez of El Salvador while he was inspecting Salvadoran troops inside Honduras.
The cease-fire, which supposedly went into effect at 10 p.m. Friday, calls for the withdrawal of all Salvadoran troops from Honduras by 10 o'clock tonight. But El Salvador said it would not withdraw until it received "satisfactory" guarantees for the safety of more than 275,000 Salvadorans living in Honduras and their property.
Guillermo Sevilla Sacasa, Nicaraguan chairman of the peace commission of the Organization of American States, said that if El Salvador does not pull its troops back, it will be "considered an aggressor and subject to the sanctions specified in the Rio de Janeiro Charter."
According to Honduran announcements, the Salvadorans have now captured a sizeable piece of western Honduras since they invaded the neighboring country last Monday. The Salvadorans said they went to war because the Hondurans were persecuting the Salvadorans in Honduras and because Honduras was preparing to invade El Salvador.

Thousands Of Cubans See Arrival Of Soviet Squadron

HAVANA (AP) — Thousands of Cubans lined Havana's waterfront Sunday to cheer the arrival of the first Soviet naval force to visit Latin America.

It took the seven-ship task force almost two hours to steam into the harbor and to Cuban navy headquarters for welcoming ceremonies, but the crowd waited patiently under the glaring sun.

A band on board the first ship, a rocket cruiser, played the Cuban anthem as the squadron passed Morro Castle at the harbor's entrance. Cannon from La Cabana Fortress boomed a 21-gun salute as the ships moved slowly down the channel.

Following the cruiser in single file were two destroyers, two submarines, the submarine mother ship Tobot and the tanker Lena.

Soviet sailors in dress whites manned the rails and shouted hurrahs in candence as the Cubans waved from the seawall. Authorities had blocked off five miles of the bayfront for the welcome, and Soviet flags were on display throughout the city. Miniature Soviet and Cuban flags were distributed to the crowds.

The Cuban and Soviet national anthems played as the squadron was welcomed by Maj. Aldo Samamaria, head of the Cuban navy and member of the Communist party Central Committee.

Prime Minister Fidel Castro was not present but is expected to greet the task force later during its seven-day stay.

One Cuban soldier, standing shirtless in the heat, remarked: "It's a great thing, this visit. This shows Russian-Cuban friendship." An onlooker agreed: "This visit is a marvelous thing, but I'm going home. It's just too hot."

The task force, commanded by Rear Adm. Stepan Sokolov, is the largest show of Soviet power in the western hemisphere since the missile crisis of 1962. It will remain in Havana until Sunday, then leave for an undisclosed location. Western observers have speculated that its visit here is a Soviet reaction to President Nixon's visit to Communist Romania next month.

Urge Rhodes Veto On 2 Election Bills

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union asked Gov. James A. Rhodes today to veto two recently passed Senate bills dealing with requirements for minority party and independent candidates to get on the ballot.

The bills reduced from 7 per cent to 4 per cent of the previous gubernatorial election vote the number of petition signatures needed to place such candidates on the ballot.

The legislative action came after the U.S. Supreme Court ruled last year that the Ohio requirements were too harsh.

The ACLU says they still are too harsh under the new legislation.

"If these measures become law, tax dollars will needlessly have to be expended defending legal action which the ACLU will bring in federal district court," Rhodes was told in a letter from Benson Woman, ACLU executive director.

Wolman said the new legislation represents "no basic change from the system of two-party monopoly which has prevailed in Ohio for the past two decades."

He said it is "important for the state to act in good faith and accept its constitutional responsibility to provide for the legitimate expression of minority viewpoints through the ballot box."

HHH Says Soviets Want Friendship

MOSCOW (AP) — Former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey met today with Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin and said Kosygin told him the Soviet government is looking forward to cooperation with the United States.

"Kosygin gave me a message to take back to the United States," Humphrey said after the 2½-hour meeting. "He wanted me to tell the President and the American people that the Soviet Union wants to work with the United States for peace."

"I think there is a basic Soviet desire to negotiate in good faith on matters of substance."

Humphrey also reported that Kosygin was "very complimentary" about Apollo 11 and expressed his personal good wishes to the astronauts and their families. Humphrey told a news conference that the premier was very complimentary in general about U.S. space achievements.

The chief of the Soviet Communist party, Leonid Brezhnev, also wished the Apollo mission success as he arrived in Warsaw to attend the 25th anniversary celebrations of the Polish Communist government. As he passed down the receiving line at the airport, he shook hands with U.S. Ambassador Walter J. Stoessel Jr. and said in Russian, "Z uspiehom," which means "With success." Stoessel told newsmen afterwards.

Humphrey was going later to Yugoslavia.

It was the first time this year that Kosygin has seen a leading U.S. politician and seemed further evidence of a Soviet wish to improve relations with the United States.

Lat-Am War Cease-Fire Said Broken

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP) — Honduras charged that El Salvador broke the cease-fire in their undeclared war with the capture Sunday of five more towns or villages.
El Salvador replied with a charge that Honduran troops opened fire with machine guns on President Fidel Sanchez Hernandez of El Salvador while he was inspecting Salvadoran troops inside Honduras.
The cease-fire, which supposedly went into effect at 10 p.m. Friday, calls for the withdrawal of all Salvadoran troops from Honduras by 10 o'clock tonight. But El Salvador said it would not withdraw until it received "satisfactory" guarantees for the safety of more than 275,000 Salvadorans living in Honduras and their property.
Guillermo Sevilla Sacasa, Nicaraguan chairman of the peace commission of the Organization of American States, said that if El Salvador does not pull its troops back, it will be "considered an aggressor and subject to the sanctions specified in the Rio de Janeiro Charter."
According to Honduran announcements, the Salvadorans have now captured a sizeable piece of western Honduras since they invaded the neighboring country last Monday. The Salvadorans said they went to war because the Hondurans were persecuting the Salvadorans in Honduras and because Honduras was preparing to invade El Salvador.

The time was 10 a.m. Saturday.

Thousands Of Cubans See Arrival Of Soviet Squadron

HAVANA (AP) — Thousands of Cubans lined Havana's waterfront Sunday to cheer the arrival of the first Soviet naval force to visit Latin America.
It took the seven-ship task force almost two hours to steam into the harbor and to Cuban navy headquarters for welcoming ceremonies, but the crowd waited patiently under the glaring sun.
A band on board the first ship, a rocket cruiser, played the Cuban anthem as the squadron passed Morro Castle at the harbor's entrance. Cannon from La Cabana Fortress boomed a 21-gun salute as the ships moved slowly down the channel.
Following the cruiser in single file were two destroyers, two submarines, the submarine mother ship Tobot and the tanker Lena.
Soviet sailors in dress whites manned the rails and shouted hurrahs in candace as the Cubans waved from the seawall. Authorities had blocked off five miles of the bayfront for the welcome, and Soviet flags were on display throughout the city. Miniature Soviet and Cuban flags were distributed to the crowds.

The Cuban and Soviet national anthems played as the squadron was welcomed by Maj. Aldo Samanaria, head of the Cuban navy and member of the Communist party Central Committee.

Prime Minister Fidel Castro was not present but is expected to greet the task force later during its seven-day stay.

One Cuban soldier, standing shirtless in the heat, remarked: "It's a great thing, this visit. This shows Russian-Cuban friendship." An onlooker agreed: "This visit is a marvelous thing, but I'm going home. It's just too hot."

The task force, commanded by Rear Adm. Stepan Sokolan, is the largest show of Soviet power in the western hemisphere since the missile crisis of 1962. It will remain in Havana until Sunday, then leave for an undisclosed location. Western observers have speculated that its visit here is a Soviet reaction to President Nixon's visit to Communist Romania next month.

Ninth graders who are eligible for band awards are requested to receive them there.

Urge Rhodes Veto On 2 Election Bills

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union asked Gov. James A. Rhodes today to veto two recently passed Senate bills dealing with requirements for minority party and independent candidates to get on the ballot.

The bills reduced from 7 per cent to 4 per cent of the previous gubernatorial election vote the number of petition signatures needed to place such candidates on the ballot.

The legislative action came after the U.S. Supreme Court ruled last year that the Ohio requirements were too harsh. The ACLU says they still are too harsh under the new legislation.

"If these measures become law, tax dollars will needlessly have to be expended defending legal action which the ACLU will bring in federal district court," Rhodes was told in a letter from Benson Woman, ACLU executive director.

Wolman said the new legislation represents "no basic change from the system of two-party monopoly which has prevailed in Ohio for the past two decades."

He said it is "important for the state to act in good faith and accept its constitutional responsibility to provide for the legitimate expression of minority viewpoints through the ballot box."

HHH Says Soviets Want Friendship

MOSCOW (AP) — Former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey met today with Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin and said Kosygin told him the Soviet government is looking forward to cooperation with the United States.

"Kosygin gave me a message to take back to the United States," Humphrey said after the 2½-hour meeting. "He wanted me to tell the President and the American people that the Soviet Union wants to work with the United States for peace."

"I think there is a basic Soviet desire to negotiate in good faith on matters of substance."

Humphrey also reported that Kosygin was "very complimentary about Apollo 11 and expressed his personal good wishes to the astronauts and their families." Humphrey told a news conference that the premier was very complimentary in general about U.S. space achievements.

The chief of the Soviet Communist party, Leonid Brezhnev, also wished the Apollo mission success as he arrived in Warsaw to attend the 25th anniversary celebrations of the Polish Communist government.
